CHICAGO (UPI)—Hubert H. Humphrey today plunged into a national election campaign against Richard M. Nixon bearing a Democratic banner tattered and dirtied in one of the angriest intraparty fights of modern American political history.

Immediately after receiving a Democratic presidential nomination of questionable value, Humphrey buckled to the task of finding a running mate who can add youth and minority appeal to his ticket and, hopefully, help him unite his fractious party.

The vice president won nomination easily on the first ballot but it came to him from a convention marred by loud and frequent waves of boos and embittered disorderly protests against the tear gas and nightstick tactics used by Chicago police to repulse antiwar demonstrators besieging the convention headquarters hotel.

Some sources close to Humphrey were putting out the word that his vice presidential choice would be Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine. Others were equally sure that it would be Mayor Joseph L. Alioto of San Francisco, who placed Humphrey's name before the convention. Still others were betting on Sargent Shriver, ambassador to France and brother-in-law of the Kennedy clan.

Humphrey's choice will be made known later today and ratified at the final convention session beginning at 7 p.m. CDT tonight. The closing session also will feature Humphrey's acceptance speech and a memorial tribute to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who, but for an assassin's bullet, might have been the man taking the bows tonight.

Humphrey polled 1,760 1/2 first ballot votes, far more than the 601 given to his chief opponent and fellow Minnesotan, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy. Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, who had tried to rally support from followers of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, finished a weak third with 146 1/2 votes.

McGovern pledged support for the ticket. But there was no promise of support from Mc-Carthy, who told an early morning news conference that Humphrey must "come to me" for an endorsement. Looking happy despite "a temporary setback to the cause," McCarthy made clear that his support of Humphrey would depend on their reaching agreement on a way to end the Vietnam War.

Related stories on the Democratic National Convention may be found on pages 2, 3 and 5.

In an afternoon session Wednesday, McCarthy and McGovern allied in an effort to write a dove plank into the party platform with a demand for an immediate halt in the bombing of North Vietnam and other proposals out of tune with administration policy.

Their plank was rejected by a vote of 1,567 1/2 to 1,041 1/2 before adoption of a platform with a Vietnam plank supporting President Johnson's line.

After this vote and before the nomination, some delegates were talking about a walkout to organize a new peace party. With the election only 10 weeks away, a new party could qualify for the ballot in only a few states, McCarthy himself rejected the idea.

Supporters of McCarthy and McGovern sought to strike from the platform a plank lauding Johnson's conduct of the war, and to substitute for it a demand for an unconditional halt to the bombing of North Vietnam followed by negotiations for mutual withdrawal of U.S. and North Vietnamese troops from South Vietnam, and "no more Vietnams." Humphrey forces dug in to defeat the substitute.

In the acrimonious debate that preceded the showdown vote, Gov. Warren Hearnes of Missouri warned that adoption of the end-the-bombing plank would "jeopardize the lives of the servicemen in Vietnam."

Theodore Sorensen, White House counsel to the late President John F. Kennedy, struck back for the doves. The Vietnam plank as it came from the platform drafting committee, he said, was essentially "A past and present policy." Whereas the substitute offered "the American voter some hope for an end to this miserable war."

In Humphrey's nominating speech, Alioto called him a man who "has practiced the art of the impossible" all his life and can "heal the wounds of this nation and rally its people to a new unity of purpose."

The vice president may need all of those qualities just to heal the wounds in his own party.

The last possible obstacles to Humphrey's nomination began falling Wednesday in almost predictable order.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy issued a statement through his Washington office that he would not accept the presidential nomination "for personal and family reasons," just as he had said a month earlier about the vice presidential nomination.

Three more favorite sons withdrew, freeing the bulk of their delegates to vote for Humphrey. They were Govs. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey, John McKeithen of Louisiana and Mills E. Godwin Jr., of Virginia.

A Night of Havoc Lingers Until Dawn

CHICAGO (AP) — Some 3,000 antiwar demonstrators and Chicago police battled beneath the windows of the Conrad Hilton Hotel, the Democratic National Convention headquarters, Wednesday night as Hubert H. Humphrey was receiving the party's presidential nomination across town.

Early today, as Illinois National Guardsmen formed a protective circle around the Hilton, some 600 dissident convention delegates and youths marched down Michigan Avenue. They carried candles and sang softly while the antiwar protesters slept in a park across the street from the hotel.

The International Amphitheatre, site of the convention and five miles distant, remained secure behind police guards and a barbed wire fence.

Tear gas filtered throughout the nation's largest hotel Wednesday night, even reaching the 25th-floor suite of Humphrey and the room of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Police used clubs in subduing the demonstrators, most of them white youths, some of them bearded and sandaled, some clean-cut.

Police arrested 267 youths. At least 300 demonstrators were injured, most of them from the policemen's clubs as the youths surged into police lines and attempted to storm the hotel.

For a short time, Hilton guests—including Mrs. McCarthy—were virtual prisoners in the hotel. They were refused permission to leave by police as trash fires were set in Michigan Avenue just outside, police cars were stoned, and some hotel windows were broken by crowd pressure.

The estimated 3,000 protesters filled Michigan Avenue from sidewalk to sidewalk during the melee, blocking all traffic, taunting police with names, throwing an occasional rock or bottle, and refusing orders to disperse.

Police, after the original confrontation, beat and dragged the protesting youths into police vans.

Violence even invaded the hotel's red-carpeted lobby as police pursuing fleeing demonstrators fell upon an unidentified, long-haired newsmen. He was beaten and dragged through the lobby door.

He was released at the insistence of two Columbia Broadcasting System executives, and taken to an aid station set up by supporters of McCarthy on the hotel's 15th floor.

Sidney Lens, a demonstration leader, said 15 of the injured remained at the hotel because "the cops are arresting anyone with a bandage."

Much of the hours-long confrontation appeared to be a stand-off with a double line of police stretching from sidewalk to sidewalk and backed by a double line of rifle-carrying National Guardsmen facing an equal number of demonstrators who sat or stood in the street, milling and singing an occasional song.

But during several street-clearing rushes five and six policemen would fall upon a single demonstrator who had shouted an insult, club him, then drag the demonstrator across streets strewn with broken glass to the paddy wagons.

Police Supt. James B. Conlisk said, "The force used was the force necessary to repel the mob." The department said thousands of telephone calls from across the nation received since confrontations began Sunday have been 7 to 3 in favor of the police action.

The latest in what has become a nightly series of confrontations began in the early afternoon, at an antiwar rally which police said was attended by 7,000 persons.

An unidentified, long-haired person lowered one of Grant Park's American flags to half staff before four police rushed up. There was a brief scuffle, other demonstrators tried to snatch the prisoner away, rocks began to fly from the crowd, and in moments police were retreating from an advancing crowd.

Reinforcements quickly broke through the crowd's front ranks, and the rally continued after its leaders restored order. But leaders continued to prepare for a scheduled march to the convention site several miles away. Police had said it would not be permitted.

An estimated 3,000 police backed up by guardsmen halted the marchers a block from the park, and for more than an hour the line of march sat on the sidewalk singing.

The demonstrators moved with little resistance when, toward 6 p.m., police ordered them to leave. But guardsmen blocking most park exits channeled them north, away from the Hilton, and into Michigan Avenue at the point where the Poor People Campaign's mule train was passing with police escort.

The demonstrators then formed a group that blocked half of the six-lane avenue, followed slowly behind the police and the six mules, and chanted antiwar, antipolice and antidraft slogans all the way, until they came to a double line of police directly in front of the Hilton.

They remained there, filling the intersection and shouting insults at police, until the first police charge drove them back. Four hours and many tense moments later, the five-block stretch of littered Michigan Avenue had been cleared.

Most demonstrators, however, retreated to a section of Grant Park directly across the street from the Hilton, where city officials said they could stay all night, as about 200 did Tuesday night.

What in the World!

Warning on Long Weekend

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI)—William E. Kirwan, superintendent of state police, has directed that every available troop car be out on the highway Friday for the start of Labor Day weekend.

Last year during the 78 hour holiday weekend, 44 persons died in 36 accidents, setting an all-time highway fatality record.

Kirwan suggests motorists take a few minutes to check the mechanical and electrical condition of their cars and they drive defensively during the weekend.

"Always assume the other driver will do something foolish," Kirwan said, "and be prepared to take corrective and protective action of your own."

Dick Phones Congratulations

MIAMI (UPI) — Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon early today telephoned Hubert H. Humphrey and congratulated the vice president for winning his party's nomination at an earlier stage of the balloting than Nixon had won his.

Nixon also complimented Humphrey on the appearance of his family in convention hall and told the vice president that both men had families of which they could well be proud.

Disorder in Mexico

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Hundreds of army armored cars occupied downtown Mexico City today following a night of violence in which federal troops fired into anti-government demonstrators in the central Zocalo plaza. Unconfirmed reports said four persons were killed and 12 wounded in the shooting. The government denied anyone was hurt.

Demanding a repeal of anti-subversive laws and the release of communists from the nation's jails, the students threatened to disrupt President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz' "State of the Union" speech Sunday.

Paul O'Dwyer Gets Roughed Up

CHICAGO (UPI) — The New York delegation, leader in the fight for peace in Vietnam, became the center of a brief battle with Chicago police and security guards on the convention floor late Wednesday.

Three New York State delegates, including U.S. Senate candidate Paul O'Dwyer, were hauled off the floor by security guards, detained by police for about half an hour before being given an official apology, then released.

The scuffle started when Alex J. Rosenberg, a 19th Congressional District delegate and New York City businessman, apparently refused to show his credentials to a security guard on the floor. Three other guards were called over and they began to take Rosenberg out. O'Dwyer and Howard R.

Moody, also a delegate from the 19th CD, came to Rosenberg's assistance, and all three were dragged off the floor over the loud protests from the 190-vote New York delegation.

"All I know is that I went to help, and their arms grabbed me," O'Dwyer said. "Then they shoved me in a room and I was up against a table like I was some sort of criminal."

"Finally, after about half an hour, we got to the chief of detectives, and he seemed to have more sense than all the rest of them, and he apologized to us," O'Dwyer said.

The floor scuffle broke out during nominating speeches for Gov. Dan Moore, the favorite son of the North Carolina delegation.

New York State Chairman

John J. Burns pushed his way off the floor by a squad of guards and police.

The action was booed so loudly by the New York and surrounding delegations that the nominating speech was twice interrupted while the chairman gavelled for order.

O'Dwyer, 61, and Rosenberg were not injured. Moody suffered a cut finger, and was treated at a first aid station off the floor.

Hunt for Ambassador's Killers

GUATEMALA CITY (UPI)—Guatemala declared a 30-day "state of siege" today, suspending constitutional limits on search and seizure to hunt the submachine gun assassins of U.S. Ambassador John Gordon Mein.

Mein, 54, was gunned down Wednesday attempting to flee a band of men who forced his limousine off the street three blocks from the U.S. Embassy and ordered him into one of their cars.

His chauffeur said Mein stepped from his limousine in the exclusive residential neighborhood and broke and ran. A burst of machine gunfire felled him.

"He was lying on the ground and still moving, so they shot him some more times with pistols until he died," the unidentified chauffeur said. Then, he said, the men got back into the two cars that had forced him off the road and drove away.

Seven Bullet Wounds

Doctors said the ambassador died of seven bullet wounds. His body was placed in state at the Reforma Funeral Home, where hundreds of persons gathered to mourn. There was no immediate word when the body would be flown to his native Cadiz, Ky.

There were no immediate reports of arrests.

U.S. sources said Mein's life had been threatened previously by the Revolutionary Armed Forces, a Cuban-backed Communist terror group. A career foreign service officer, Mein was married and the father of three young boys. His family is here.

The Guatemalan Ministry of Interior issued a communique expressing "the sorrow in all sectors of Guatemala over the death of the ambassador."

He was praised for his "great merits" and called him a "friend of Guatemala." President Johnson in 1965 appointed Mein as ambassador to Guatemala, a nation the size of Tennessee that has been beset by terrorists of the political right and left.

2,000 Have Died

Since 1967, political violence has killed nearly 2,000 persons. Seven months ago, Col. John Webber, chief of the U.S. military mission, and Capt. Ernest Munro, chief of the U.S. Embassy's naval section, were assassinated.

A Communist-led insurgent group said their deaths were in retaliation for the killing of a Guatemalan beauty queen by rightwing terrorists.

In Washington, a spokesman said President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk were "shocked and grieved" by the slaying and urged "a full investigation of all the circumstances of the tragedy."

A graduate of Georgetown College in Kentucky and University in Washington, D. C., Mein joined the diplomatic service in 1947. He was second secretary in the U.S. Embassy in Rome and first secretary in the U.S. Embassy in Oslo.

His foreign service assignments also included Manila, Jakarta and Rio de Janeiro. Mein is survived by his wife, the former Elizabeth Ann Clay, and three children.

FBI Checking On Interference

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI has launched an investigation of what a Democratic congressman labels "unnecessary and violent interference" with reporters at the Democratic National Convention.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark ordered the investigation Wednesday and Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., urged the attorney general to send investigators immediately "to fully evaluate the performance of the Chicago Police Department and the Illinois National Guard."

Moss is chairman of the House subcommittee on government information.

More than 24 newsmen said they were roughed up Monday and Tuesday covering demonstrations at the convention. Several incidents were shown on nationwide television.

"Indications of serious violations of civil rights guaranteed under both the Constitution and the civil rights acts of the past several years appear rampant in Chicago," said Moss, who saw some of the incidents while watching television at his Washington home.

"Unnecessary and violent interference with the reporting of bonafide news of great national import is particularly disturbing," said Moss.

Chicago Mayor Richard Daley said, "The security is needed to prevent violence. The same forces creating disorder outside the convention hall are creating it inside."

"Who is creating the disorder, Mr. Mayor?" asked a newsmen. "You are," replied Daley.

Clark didn't elaborate on his announcement launching the investigation, but it was expected to cover all phases of security arrangements in Chicago—federal, state, local and private.

The Secret Service, which had responsibility for coordinating security, was known to be conferring with Chicago police Wednesday.

Two newsmen were reported arrested Wednesday night when some demonstrators got into the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Tom Corpora of United Press International said he was arrested after demanding the name of a police officer who Corpora said had insulted him. Photographer Jean Vassal of France was thrown into a police van.

CBS news said convention floor reporter Mike Wallace was struck in the face by a police officer and arrested. He was later released after the officer and Wallace shook hands.

Gene Visits Injured

By JOSEPH E. MOHAT

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, visibly shaken, visited several hotel rooms Wednesday night that had been set aside for victims injured in antiwar demonstrations outside his headquarters hotel.

McCarthy had been on the 23rd floor of the Conrad Hilton Hotel watching the presidential nomination which he has sought for nine months slip from his reach on television.

Somebody told him that the injured were being brought to a suite of rooms eight floors below under the supervision of his close friend Dr. William Davidson.

McCarthy and his Secret Service agent followed by reporters immediately took the elevator down.

He stepped into one room, where a young man with a bandage on his knee said he would be okay and asked the Minnesotan what it all meant.

His voice barely under control, McCarthy replied, "It's the way this movement will go on from here."

McCarthy has often said that if the Democratic party nominates Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the presidency it will bring widespread disaffection among young people interested in politics.

As he emerged from another temporary first aid room, where a young man with a mustache and a blue shirt covered with blood was sitting on a bed, a nurse in civilian clothes approached him.

The nurse tried to speak but burst into tears. McCarthy put his hand on her shoulder, and kept saying, "It'll be alright. I'm upstairs if you need me."

When photographers clustered around McCarthy looked up and said "Get out of the way fellows, get out. You don't have to see everything."

Then his voice rose to an angry shout, "Get the hell out of the way!"

Someone asked him to comment on what he had seen.

"You don't have to comment when you see something like that," he said. "It goes back to the whole business of having the convention here in Chicago." Earlier McCarthy said he had offered to throw all of his support to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in order to deny the presidential nomination to Humphrey.

FBI Checking On Interference

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI has launched an investigation of what a Democratic congressman labels "unnecessary and violent interference" with reporters at the Democratic National Convention.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark ordered the investigation Wednesday and Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., urged the attorney general to send investigators immediately "to fully evaluate the performance of the Chicago Police Department and the Illinois National Guard."

Moss is chairman of the House subcommittee on government information.

More than 24 newsmen said they were roughed up Monday and Tuesday covering demonstrations or the convention. Several incidents were shown on nationwide television.

"Indications of serious violations of civil rights guaranteed under both the Constitution and the civil rights acts of the past several years appear rampant in Chicago," said Moss, who saw some of the incidents while watching television at his Washington home.

"Unnecessary and violent interference with the reporting of bona fide news of great national import is particularly disturbing," said Moss.

Chicago Mayor Richard Daley said, "The security is needed to prevent violence. The same forces creating disorder outside the convention hall are creating it inside."

"Who is creating the disorder, Mr. Mayor?" asked a newsmen. "You are," replied Daley.

Clark didn't elaborate on his announcement launching the investigation, but it was expected to cover all phases of security arrangements in Chicago—federal, state, local and private.

The Secret Service, which had responsibility for coordinating security, was known to be conferring with Chicago police Wednesday.

Two newsmen were reported

arrested Wednesday night when some demonstrators got into the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Tom Corpora of United Press International said he was arrested after demanding the name of a police officer who Corpora said had insulted him. Photographer Jean Vassal of France was thrown into a police van.

CBS news said convention floor reporter Mike Wallace was struck in the face by a police officer and arrested. He was later released after the officer and Wallace shook hands.

Wawarsing To Purchase Dump Truck

The Town of Wawarsing is preparing to purchase a new two and one-half ton dump truck.

The town has advertised for bids on the truck and applications are to be made no later than Sept. 5, at 4:30 p. m.

The town board is scheduled to meet at the town building on Canal Street on Sept. 5 at 7:30 p. m. to open the bids.

The use of enzyme additives in presoaking and washing products represents the very newest approach to removing many types of soils and stains during the laundering of washable fabrics.

Ted Kennedy's Future Bright, Big Hope of Dissident Demos

CHICAGO (AP) — The rising star of another Kennedy blazed brightly on Democratic horizons today despite the last brother's refusal to be drawn into the White House fray this year.

Many politicians feel Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's rejection of the draft movement that bubbled up at the Democratic National Convention this week only postponed his presidential nomination until 1972 or 1976—depending on which way the party's fortunes flow this fall.

With Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's first-ballot victory crushing the challenges of war critics Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy and George S. McGovern, the Kennedy banner was practically the only place Democratic dissidents could go. Many went quickly.

"I think he is the hope of the Democratic party," said California Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, who had flirted with the draft movement until Kennedy killed it hours before the convention chose Humphrey Wednesday night.

McCarthy revealed he had offered to throw all his support behind the 36-year-old Kennedy to try to deny the nomination to Humphrey because of the Vietnam war issue.

The Minnesota senator said, "If Ted had a better chance of stopping it, I'd support him on the first ballot and not even make a run for it."

McGovern also said he'd back Kennedy if he were asked, but Kennedy said he could not accept the nomination "for personal and family reasons" and asked delegates to drop the draft effort.

Convention Chairman Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma read a telegram Kennedy had sent.

Kennedy wired, "I am deeply grateful to those who have expressed their confidence in me and are interested in placing my name before this convention, but I respectfully request that the nomination be withdrawn."

Kennedy's name wasn't entered, but he got 12 3/4 votes as a tribute anyway.

California raised placards promoting Kennedy for 1972. Unruh said his national status "is sky high at this point."

The youngest brother, last heir to a legacy of leadership, was thrust into the swirl of presidential speculation by the assassin's bullets that ended the candidacy of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy just five years after President John F. Kennedy was slain by a sniper.

Not His Year

Massachusetts House Speaker Robert H. Quinn explained, "I think basically he must have felt this was not his year. He must have felt that this was to have been Robert's year. He will choose his year."

Quinn, presiding over the Massachusetts delegation in place of Kennedy who remained at the family retreat at Hyannisport, said he believed the senator is assured the Democratic nomination in 1972 if Humphrey loses, in 1976 if he wins.

Sen. George Smathers of Florida predicted flatly Kennedy would be president in four or eight years.

Quinn said, "I think he is the best of the family of the best politicians." He predicted history would prove him superior to both of the brothers who had blazed the trail before him.

Dr. Gorman in Chicago:

Sees 4th Party on Horizon

(Editor's Note: Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, Ulster County Democratic chairman and an alternate delegate to the party's national convention in Chicago, tells of the happenings at the event in an exclusive for the Kingston Freeman.)

Dr. Gorman reports he definitely sees a fourth party looming on the horizon as a result of last night's pro-McCarthy bolt at the convention.

And, Dr. Gorman told the Freeman this morning, the birth of the new party seems to have been growing out of the New York delegation which is completely and bitterly divided over the convention's support of the Vietnam plank put forth by supporters of the current administration.

Great Victory for Nixon

"The division of the party is so great at this point that I see it as a great dramatic victory for the Republican candidate Richard Nixon," Gorman said.

When asked if he felt there was any chance of the deep gaping wounds being mended, the Kingston surgeon said he felt the "only thing that would heal the wounds would be the complete cessation of fighting in Vietnam within the next two months."

Asked too, if he felt that police brutality existed in Chicago to the extent that certain television commentators indicated, Gorman said, definitely no.

Upholds Daley

Stunned by the "fanaticism" of the McCarthy supporters, he said, he felt Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago was "perfectly right in using the tactics employed. He is doing a good job. He was faced with keeping law and order and he did it."

Dr. Gorman, who is staying at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, the scene of rioting in the streets, said he was able to avoid getting pushed around by the crowds by using a back entrance to the hotel. He has spent several sleepless nights however, due to all-night speech-making and singing and rioting which continued until daybreak.

He described the rioters as unreachable in that they "won't listen to anyone," they want what they want.

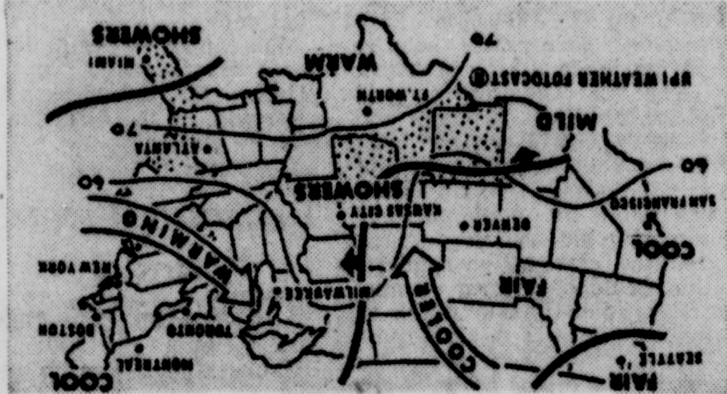

Speaking of Humphrey's victory, which the three 28th district delegates supported, Dr. Gorman termed it a "shallow victory" because of the circumstances under which it was won.

The usual enthusiasm and frivolity was missing, he said. There was a great deal of sobriety, with no celebration after victory.

Referring to the convention's catastrophes and the party split, the Ulster County Democratic Party Chairman, summed up the situation as a tragedy and a fall over the convention.

Telling of the several caucuses held by the New York delegation yesterday, he said that Allard Lowenstein, prime mover for McCarthy suggested to the New York group that its McCarthy supporters leave the convention.

His remarks were tempered however by Paul O'Dwyer, Democratic candidate for U. S. Senator from New York, who apparently had enough strength to override Lowenstein's decision. O'Dwyer too, has been an avowed McCarthy supporter.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AUGUST 29, 1968

Campus Arrogance

Herewith, the statement issued by Stanford University Student Body President Denis Hayes on the announcement that Dr. Kenneth S. Pitzer, president of Rice University, had been named new president of Stanford:

"The appointment . . . without benefit of student participation or even student advice, represents a gross abuse by the Sanford trustee of the legal powers vested in them.

"No students were asked to meet Dr. Pitzer prior to his selection, nor were any of us granted access to his files. We were not even informed that he was under consideration, so that we could have conducted some research of our own."

Student Hayes also complains that no sampling of Rice University students' opinions about Pitzer were made. "In an age where the relationship of a university president to his students is of such critical importance, this kind of investigatory negligence is inexcusable."

It must be noted that Hayes, exercising his office as spokesman for all the thousands of the university's students, knows nothing about the new president and has nothing on or against him. That does not stop him from going on at length expressing in Eng. Lit. term paper language his vague doubts about the man or castigating the Stanford trustees for their temerity and questioning their wisdom.

Times have changed, of course, and the relationship of a university president to his students is undeniably of critical importance today. But if this is an example of the so-called "campus revolution," old folks over 30 may perhaps be excused if they wonder if it is an entirely desirable thing.

Young people can, at times, be presumptuous. Even obnoxious.

Law and Order Defined

Since law and order has become, next to the war in Vietnam, the overriding issue of the Presidential campaign, it is well to define the term and see if we are all talking the same things. Like most Americans, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said he wanted law and order, but hoped "the country doesn't get lost in an argument about a narrow definition of that term."

Wirtz proceeded to define what he means by law and order, and we believe many people would be interested in his definition. It follows:

"What is included in law and order? It does include making our neighborhood safe. It also includes making our neighborhoods centers of pride for the people who live in them.

"It does include a whole new equity that has been developed in this country in the past seven years. It does include an equity that means one person is recognized as being just as good as another person. And that is the law. And that is the order, as well as anything else.

"The term also includes the fact that now under the law women are entitled to equal employment rights with men. And it does include the educational right of every single individual, every son and every daughter in this country. And it does include the guarantee of health."

Well, now, that is a pretty broad definition of law and order, isn't it? We doubt very many people thought of the term meaning all those things. Most people mean by law and order security on the streets and in their homes. Given that, they would be more willing to think of the other things that are the law and the order as Wirtz sets them forth.

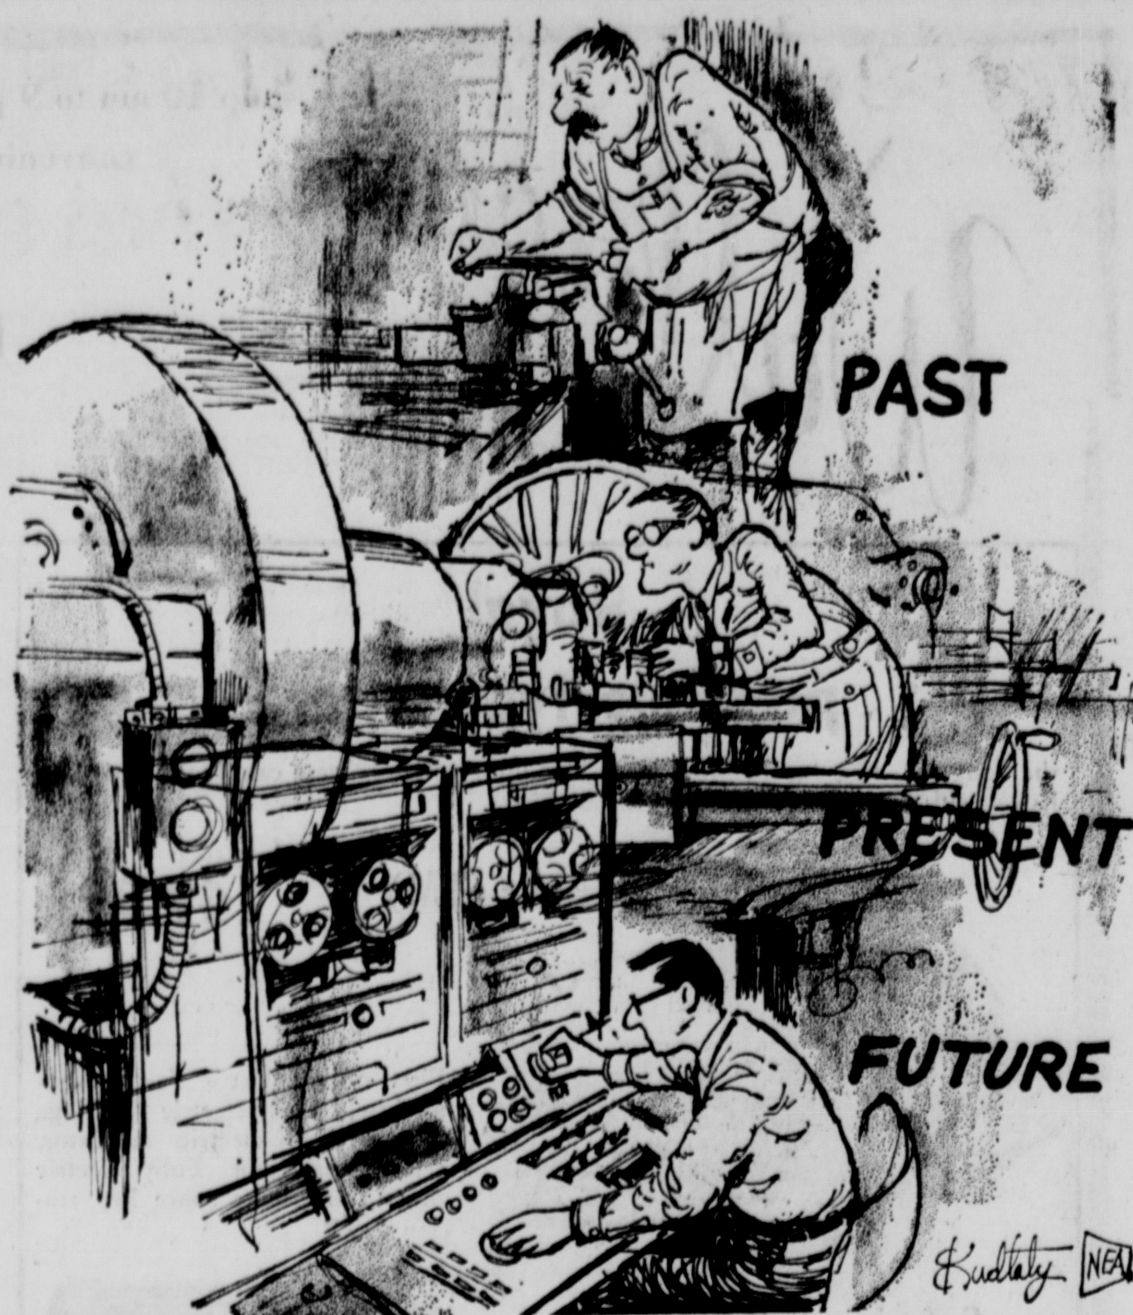

Cold War Renewed

Not that the cold war was ever over, but the invasion of Czechoslovakia certainly has brought it back with a bang. Even Richard M. Nixon, who more than any other American politician has been wary of the Soviet bear, was over optimistic in his acceptance speech when he said "The time has come for an era of negotiations."

Negotiations with whom? The men in the Kremlin who ordered the rape of Czechoslovakia had ten days before signed the treaty of Bratislava, accepting the right of Czechoslovakia to introduce reforms in its way to Communism. If they couldn't keep their word for more than ten days, what guarantee do we have that they will abide by whatever they were to sign with us after negotiations?

We can't agree with Hubert Humphrey's approach to Communism, a "shift from policies of confrontation and containment to policies of reconciliation and peaceful engagement," not now that we have this example of what happened to Czechoslovakia when she tried to shift from abject submission to a taste of freedom. She believed she had the approbation of the Soviet Union and all its lackeys who joined her in their shameless invasion.

For Americans, Czechoslovakia, even more than Hungary, should teach us not to rely on Communists for anything humane and decent.

David Lawrence Says

Bitterness Over Vietnam War Could Hurt Democratic Party

WASHINGTON — There is something going on at the Chicago convention which could seriously affect Hubert Humphrey's chances of winning the election. For while his nomination is assured, there are enough states in which an apathetic number of Democrats could take a passive attitude toward the Presidential contest and defeat him while concentrating on the election of local candidates.

The main trouble seems to be reflected by the McCarthy and McGovern candidacies. The irreconcilability of Messrs. Humphrey, McCarthy and McGovern was illustrated in a three-way debate on television on Tuesday at a caucus of the California delegation in Chicago. McCarthy would not promise that he would support the ticket. McGovern pledged himself to stand by his party, but his followers may not do so. Humphrey tried in vain to clarify the Vietnam War issue and spell out just what an honorable peace means, only to find that most of the audience wanted a virtual "Peace-at-any-price" settlement. He was clear cut and positive in what he said about the Vietnam War. He was logical and sensible in his argument. Yet it didn't seem to make much difference.

California has 174 delegates and many of them will be for Humphrey when the roll is called. But it is evident that the anti-war sentiment is strong in the delegation. This is true in some other states as well.

Humphrey made a valiant attempt to explain the Vietnam War issue point by point and promised to strive for an honorable peace when he declared that the critics are mistaken if they believe the United States can afford to halt the bombings without some assurance of restraint by the North Vietnamese.

Judging by the applause given to McCarthy and McGovern, it didn't much matter what the Vice President said. The audience, which included many young people, plainly indicated a desire for the war's end, irrespective of the consequences to South Vietnam or Southeast Asia.

This kind of dissension could hurt the Democratic Party in November. For it is based on deep-seated emotions rather than logic or even solid information about America's repeated attempts to settle the Vietnam War by negotiation. There are rumors around the convention hall to the effect that the supporters of Senator McCarthy and many others who are known as strong adherents of Senator Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts are seeking in some way either to draft him or to conduct the kind of campaign which will virtually hand over the election to Richard Nixon. This, they hope, would make a possible Democratic victory in 1972, with Senator Kennedy presumably the candidate at that time.

Vice President Humphrey has been striving to bring harmony in the party. While he spoke confidently in the debate before the California delegation, it was obvious that he was troubled by the sweeping criticism of the administration's Vietnam policy, and particularly by the implication that peace could be obtained merely by stopping the bombing.

Some of the differences of opinion are reflected in the controversy over certain planks in the platform. But the platform submitted by the platform committee, though adopted by a majority vote, will leave evidences of disaffection. It is unfortunate that the convention has developed into something of a personal squabble among the rival candidates who profess to be friendly when they appear in public. But the battle that goes on underneath among their respective supporters doesn't augur well for the Democratic Party in the coming campaign.

It now looks as if in some states there will be independent tickets on the ballot, though it is too late for such a device to be used in all states. The dissenters, of course, would not wish to vote for Governor Wallace. So, if they are not content to support either Humphrey or Nixon, lots of them will refrain from voting any of the presidential tickets.

The Republicans had their differences at Miami Beach but got together in the end. The bitterness evident at the Democratic convention, however, is likely to become a factor in the postconvention behavior of Democratic minorities in various parts of the country. As one surveys the scene, it is quite apparent that President Johnson was well aware of the split inside his party when he decided not to be a candidate for re-nomination.

Some Balkan Nations Relieved By Soviet Invasion of Czech

By GEORGE WELLER

Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

Belgrade, Yugoslavia. — Russia's occupation of Czechoslovakia has shocked and alarmed the Balkan peoples, including even token participants, the Hungarians and Bulgarians.

Entangled and humiliated in Czechoslovakia, Russia apparently cannot strike elsewhere.

Romania's dictator Nicolae Ceausescu yesterday asked Soviet Ambassador Alex. Andropov for fresh assurances against aggression.

All the Balkan powers, whether opponents like Romania and Yugoslavia, or coerced collaborators like Bulgaria and Hungary, or western allies like Turkey and Greece, now possess the new Soviet rules. Any power that liberalizes its system enough to treat with Western Germany is subject to invasion—but only if its territory lies along the main East-West axis.

Yugoslavia and Romania can get away with treating, borrowing and trading with Germany, just as Albania gets away with her Chinese alliance. They are south of the border of peril.

Grasping instantly these rules, Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito and Ceausescu have found it quite unnecessary to appeal for United Nations, much less NATO intervention. They have not even mobilized. What remains obscure is whether Russia would also strike to sustain her Mediterranean fleet.

The Soviet invasion has been a godsend to the elderly, clique-ridden Communist parties, whose recruitment has been lagging. The Soviets, in their 12,000-word diatribe against the Czechs, slapped the Dubcek faction for bringing in 200,000 to 300,000 youths to swamp the old, pro-Soviet Novotny gang. They were reciting Tito's and Ceausescu's "crime," too. And they were pinpointing their own fate if liberalism leaked into Russia.

In Romania and Yugoslavia the governmental problem has been to try to win youths away from the seduction of technocratic jobs into less plush, more time-consuming party jobs. Now the Soviet aggression has started a new wave of nationalist communism, toning down student antipathy for each party's bureaucracy. Enlistments are reviving again, stirred by Tito's loyal attitude toward the students after their spring riots. Defense has become a fashionable "reform."

Since Czechoslovakia is a Communist family problem, there is so far no demand or expectation that the West should step in, as Britain tried to help Poland in 1940, nor that the United States should repeat her liberation of the Western Czechoslovakia in 1944.

The only western power sufficiently free of bloc alliances to be considered as a rescuer is France. But President Charles DeGaulle's flirtation with Russia and his controlled indignation over the Czech aggression make him as unlikely as the United States.

What the Balkans would consider unforgivable is a hand shaking mission to Russia by President Johnson before he settles in his rocking chair. The presidential prerequisite of taking a public peace-makers posture before retiring cannot be undertaken without a severe loss of American prestige, already low in Eastern Europe.

Yugoslavia mobilized tanks along the Hungarian border this morning. But there is surprisingly little envisioned criticism of Hungary, which tried to serve as mediator before joining the invasion, or even of Bulgaria, which is far south of the East-West Avenue. Hungary is forgiven because her 75,000-man army is overawed by her own 30,000 Soviet troops. Bulgaria is nakedly a Soviet satellite partly because she needs Soviet credits and is surrounded by anti-Soviet powers, plus hostile Greece.

Yugoslavia has not hesitated to provide a home-in-exile for the rump Dubcek cabinet, headed by Vice Premier Otakar Sik and foreign minister Jiri Hajek. Sik, who is Jewish, is an able economist with a pert, witty visage who made an excellent impression at his maiden press conference Saturday in Belgrade. His intended reforms for the Czech economy are based thoroughly on knowledge gained from Yugoslav communists, now struggling with a sunken rate of growth.

Drew Pearson Says Kennedy Feud Hinders Hunt for Vice President

CHICAGO — Hubert Humphrey's search for a Vice President has run into a family feud which could only happen in the Kentucky mountains or with the Kennedy clan. Teddy Kennedy doesn't want the Vice Presidency, but the family has turned thumbs down on Ted's brother-in-law, Sargent Shriver, who does.

And since one reason for putting Shriver on the ticket would be to get Kennedy family support, this amounts to a firm veto.

Among the Kennedys you play for keeps, and envoys for Hubert Humphrey have found that their views on brother-in-law Shriver are deadly serious. It is based on the family rule of succession and dates back to a meeting held in the White House immediately after the assassination in Dallas at which time it was decided that Robert F. Kennedy would pick up the mantle of his late brother and carry on.

Later, after the tragedy in Los Angeles, the family decided that brother Edward Kennedy, sole surviving male member of the family, would aspire to the White House but would wait at least four years, possibly eight, partly because he was young, partly because 1968 did not look like a good Democratic year.

Father's Ambition

Although patriarch Joseph P. Kennedy, now in a wheelchair, did not attend these sessions, they stemmed from his ambition to put his sons in the White House. When Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr., the eldest son, was shot down in a plane off the coast of Spain during the war, his father decreed that the next son, John F. Kennedy, should run for President. Plans were made to elect him to the House of Representatives, then the Senate.

Reason for the family veto of Sargent Shriver now is the argument, first that he is not really a Kennedy; second, that if he were elected Vice President he might get in the way of Teddy Kennedy's future.

The country might get fed up with a chain of Kennedys running for high office; or the Humphrey administration, of which he would be a part, might become unpopular.

Shriver, married to Eunice Kennedy, oldest of JFK's sisters, got in wrong with the family when he accepted the ambassadorship to France at about the time Bobby Kennedy was running for President.

What happened was that President Johnson had offered Shriver the ambassadorship last winter, about three months before Bob Kennedy saw what Gene McCarthy was able to do in New Hampshire and jumped into the race.

Shriver's reply to the President was that he hoped to run in Illinois for governor or the U.S. Senate. To give him time to explore this opportunity, LBJ kept the ambassadorship open. By the time Shriver had made up his mind, Bobby had officially announced for President against LBJ. Thinking this might embarrass Shriver, Johnson asked Secretary of State Rusk to take the precaution of telephoning him in Spain where Shriver was vacationing, to make sure Bobby's announcement would not complicate his appointment to France. Shriver still wanted to serve. He was appointed.

This added to the friction between the Kennedy clan and their brother-in-law.

Well Qualified

Vice President Humphrey, in looking over the field for a running mate, has found that Shriver fills all the vote-getting qualifications. He did a good job as head of the Peace Corps, where he became identified with young people. As head of the anti-poverty program he became identified with Negroes and the problems of the big cities.

However, the alienation of the Kennedy family would undo most of these assets. Humphrey therefore passed the word to the Shriver in Paris regarding their opposition. Shriver's wife, Eunice, immediately began serving as her husband's ambassador to remove the veto of the Kennedy family.

First she got in touch with her mother, Rose Kennedy. It's doubtful, however, how influential Rose Kennedy is with the rest of the family. Jim Bishop, in his forthcoming book, "The Day Kennedy Was Shot," will tell the story of how Jacqueline Kennedy did not call her husband's mother Rose on the date of the Dallas tragedy. It was Johnson who did call Rose. Bishop was also told by Cardinal Cushing of Boston how, when he entered the cathedral at the time of John F. Kennedy's funeral, he found Mrs. Rose Kennedy in the rear and escorted her up to one of the front pews with the rest of the family.

Bishop interviewed Mrs. Rose Kennedy three months after the funeral and learned that she had not seen or heard from her daughter-in-law Jackie since the day of the funeral.

So it's doubtful whether Mrs. Shriver can get much effective help from her mother in breaking down the Kennedy clan's taboo on her husband as a candidate for Vice President.

Meanwhile, however, Eunice has been wearing a Humphrey button in Paris and has made it unequivocally clear who she is for.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The physical health of the people of the United States is better than ever. Mary Lasker, the widow of Albert Lasker, has drawn up a report that should please the physicians of the nation, the pathologists, the research groups and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

It had been said many times that these people could not, and would not work together. When Lyndon Johnson implemented Medicare and raised Health to the position of a cabinet post, there was genuine fear that the government was going to watch over the shoulders of our doctors, counting those aspirin tablets.

There are some grumbles, but the system is working effectively. The doctor has not lost his independence and the government is spending $16 billion a year on health. The cost is high, but it is still only half of what this country spends in Vietnam. Deaths in continental U.S. are down to 9.3 per thousand per year. Since 1942, life expectancy has gone up seven years.

The National Institutes of Health gives aid and grants to 16,000 research projects, each of which is trying to find a key to an illness. A few years ago, one cancer patient in four could be saved; the figure is now one in three. The advent of chemotherapy in emotional illness has cut the use of hospital beds by 16 per cent in the past four years.

Two men—Salk and Sabin—have almost eliminated poliomyelitis. There is a vaccine to prevent measles encephalitis. All of us have read about heart and kidney transplants and there is an aura of the miraculous in this work. But better times are ahead. Scientists are working on artificial hearts and lungs and kidneys that will not only assume the work of a diseased organ, but will outlast the patient.

Ever hear of histoplasmosis? It is caused by fungus spores that float in air. Illnesses, the great masquerader. Often it is diagnosed as pneumonia, influenza, tuberculosis and leukemia. About 50,000,000 Americans acquire it at one time or another. Lederle Lab has just come up with an approved Histoplasmin Tine Test, which will enable doctors to strip the mask from Histo and treat it for what it is.

Progress in medicine sounds dull until disease taps you on the shoulder. In four years the death rate from rheumatic fever has dropped 19 per cent. Infant diseases are down 26 per cent, which is gratifying because the new-borns are taken insidiously. The death rate from tuberculosis is down almost a third in the past four years.

Hypertensive heart disease, which cuts down thousands of our bright young men, has a death rate that declined 22 per cent. The old, least productive, poorest in income and most prone to chronic illness, have had 19,000,000 of their number in hospitals under Medicare and an additional 18,000,000 have received government help in paying medical bills at home. The U.S. Government paid $4,200,000,000 to hospitals and $1,300,000,000 in doctors' bills. If the able-bodied earners of the nation did nothing more charitable to take care of the very old and very young and the chronically helpless, this would be a good country and a good time in which to live.

Migrant workers—Mexicans, Negroes, families adrift—are now eligible for Medicare. In Appalachia, America's uncomplaining illiterates, and unemployed, now have a visiting nurse service backed by follow-up doctors. None of it is designed to keep us living forever; the plan is to maintain good health for a longer period of time.

This year, half of all the Americans who die will be victims of heart disease—or, to phrase it properly—cardiovascular and renal diseases. Sixteen per cent will die of cancer. Although this is the smaller figure, it is the more frightening because so little can be done after the wild cells begin to multiply. In the case of heart disease, something can be done.

We think of mental illness as a form of breakdown in adults. Two million little ones are mentally retarded, and an additional four million are emotionally ill. Over ten million children need eye care.

Who cares? Well, a big-eared Texan named Lyndon Johnson pushed the program. Senator Lister Hill of Alabama is so concerned that he devotes the major part of his work to goading the government to build clinics and hospitals. Congressman John Fogarty of Rhode Island died, but his work for health lives on.

Man cannot expect to defeat death. My father used to say: "Dying is something I'm reserving as the last thing I want to do."

Disgruntled N.Y. Backers of Gene— A Threat of New Political Party

By KIRTLAND I. KING

CHICAGO (UPI)—New York Democrats today had to live with the threat of a new political party.

John Burns, State Democratic Chairman, said he had received reports that disgruntled supporters of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy were going to start their own political party in New York.

Burns said the donnybrook at the convention and disorder on Chicago streets "didn't do us any good."

Up to Hubert

The former Binghamton mayor told UPI today that it would be up to Democratic presidential nominee Hubert H. Humphrey to come up with something.

The chairman added that he thought Humphrey should select a "liberal dove" for a running mate.

The leadership of the once powerful New York organization appeared split beyond repair. The bitter fight between supporters of Humphrey and McCarthy was certain to carry over into the November campaign.

Veteran leaders feared the battle between the two camps would wipe out chances of Democratic victory in New York in the presidential and legislative races.

The 190-vote New York delegation balloted 96½ for Humphrey, 87 for McCarthy, 3 for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, 2 for the Rev. Channing Phillips, a Washington, D.C., Negro, and 1½ for Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota.

Nassau County Chairman Jack English, the new national committeeman, said McCarthy or McGovern would make excellent vice presidential candidates. He added, however, that he didn't think they would accept.

Burns said he heard reports that Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine was being talked of as a Humphrey running mate, but added, "he wouldn't do us any good in New York State."

Paul O'Dwyer, the Democratic candidate for U.S. Senate, did not participate in any fourth party discussion.

O'Dwyer did, however, lead about 200 McCarthy supporters in a downtown caucus after the convention recessed in the morning. The caucus decided to demand a meeting with Mayor

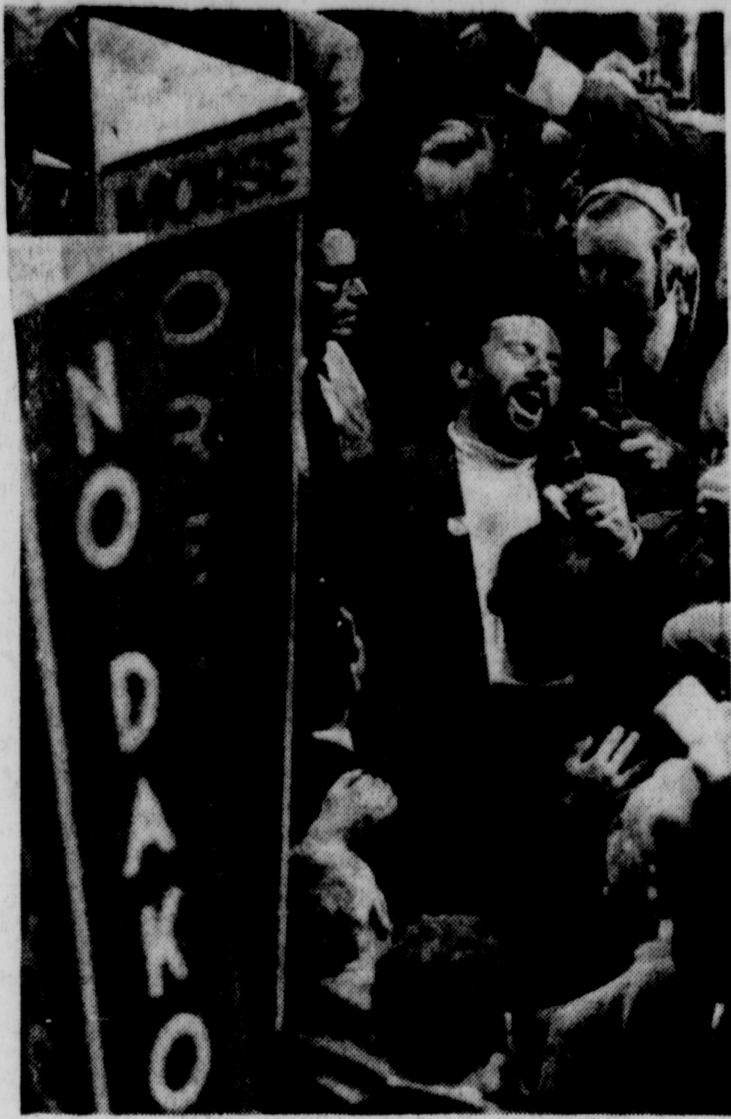

Richard Daley of Chicago on alleged police brutality in an incident in which O'Dwyer and two New York delegates were held for half an hour following a scuffle with convention hall police over credentials.

Would Caucus Outside

If Daley refuses to meet with them, McCarthy followers said they would march on the Conrad Hilton Hotel tonight and caucus on sidewalks outside instead of at the amphitheater.

Following the morning caucus, O'Dwyer and scores of followers walked around the Hilton to survey the situation.

gations demonstrated on the convention floor during debate before an administration Vietnam platform was approved, shouting and singing "We shall overcome" was unbelievable," one leader said. The leader said he was surprised at the role played by Nassau County executive Eugene Nickerson, who joined the demonstration. Rep. William F. Ryan of Manhattan, who became a McCarthy supporter after the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, led a peace march of New York delegates around the hall.

Viet Plank Win Comes Hard

By FRANK ELEAZER

CHICAGO (UPI)—Democratic unity hopes for November foundered today on a pro-administration platform plank on Vietnam that was booed, hissed, and rejected by almost 40 per cent of the party's convention delegates.

After the bitterest fight in recent political history, the convention Wednesday turned down a substitute end-the-war plank on a vote of 1,567½ to 1,041½ and then approved a plank tailored to views of

President Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

The rest of the 17,000-word party policy statement drafted by the convention's platform committee was approved unread and uncontested. It committed the Democrats to further advances in fields from oceanography to agriculture and promised "total victory in our wars on ignorance, poverty, and the misery of the ghettos."

A "justice and law" plank that might have been expected to draw fire from one flank or the other was nailed into the party platform without debate. It pledged just law enforcement and an attack on the root causes of crime and it defended dissent but said "we must not and will not tolerate violence."

Before and after the climactic Vietnam vote there was angry talk by dove delegates of withholding support for the ticket in November or throwing support to a peace candidate.

The doves, denied their choice of a nominee as well as their pacified by pleas for the unity that usually binds Democratic wounds by election day.

What the convention approved, on a split vote that was close enough to give doves a "moral victory" claim, was a pledge to end the fighting on honorable terms, with the bombing of North Vietnam to be halted only when U.S. troop safety is not jeopardized and when Hanoi takes reciprocal action. President Johnson was praised for his "initiative" and "statesmanship" in the Paris talks.

The dove plank that drew passionate support of convention backers of Sens. Eugene McCarthy and George McGovern said the Vietnam War "must be ended now" and that the first step must be an unconditional halt of all bombing of North Vietnam. Other recommended moves included pressure on Saigon to deal with Viet Cong and early withdrawal of many American troops. It pledged "no more Vietnams."

LBJ May Be at Windup

By FRANK CORMIER

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson, applauding the convention that endorsed his Vietnam war policy and nominated his vice president, is thought likely to appear at the convention tonight to anoint the Democratic ticket.

In keeping with Johnson's preference for secrecy, there was no official advance word on any plans to attend the Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

But the President discarded the cloak of impartiality he's worn, sometimes restively, the past few weeks and commended the nomination of Hubert H.

Humphrey as the party's standard-bearer.

"Now that the party has nominated an excellent and an especially well-qualified candidate for president, President Johnson said that all Democrats will unite behind him and move forward to victory in the election," said press secretary George Christian at the Texas White House.

Christian said Johnson called Humphrey to offer congratulations as soon as the President watched the vice president get the nomination on television.

Johnson's statement noted "all viewpoints have been expressed at the convention."

Johnson didn't refer to the Vietnam platform plank considered a victory for his administration. But on his 60th birthday Tuesday he had said he hoped the positions of the major parties on the war "will not be too divergent."

That way, he explained, the world won't have to wait until November to find out America's course in Vietnam.

Before the nominating speeches began Wednesday in Chicago, delegates heard Johnson's telegram reaffirming he will not run for re-election.

"That decision," said the telegram, "was and is irrevocable."

Service is a telephone tradition. Not just telephone service on the job, but community service off the job as well. Wherever you find people devoting their spare time to helping others, you'll find a telephone man in the picture.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, applauding his convention that endorsed his Vietnam war policy and nominated his vice president, is thought likely to appear at the convention tonight to anoint the Democratic ticket.

In keeping with Johnson's preference for secrecy, there was no official advance word on any plans to attend the Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

But the President discarded the cloak of impartiality he's worn, sometimes restively, the past few weeks and commended the nomination of Hubert H.

Humphrey as the party's standard-bearer. "Now that the party has nominated an excellent and an especially well-qualified candidate for president, President Johnson said that all Democrats will unite behind him and move forward to victory in the election," said press secretary George Christian at the Texas White House.

Christian said Johnson called Humphrey to offer congratulations as soon as the President watched the vice president get the nomination on television.

Johnson's statement noted "all viewpoints have been expressed at the convention."

Johnson didn't refer to the Vietnam platform plank considered a victory for his administration. But on his 60th birthday Tuesday he had said he hoped the positions of the major parties on the war "will not be too divergent."

That way, he explained, the world won't have to wait until November to find out America's course in Vietnam.

Before the nominating speeches began Wednesday in Chicago, delegates heard Johnson's telegram reaffirming he will not run for re-election.

"That decision," said the telegram, "was and is irrevocable."

N. Y. In the picture, Ted and other city officials are reviewing a parade in front of City Hall.

Service is a telephone tradition. Not just telephone service on the job, but community service off the job as well. Wherever you find people devoting their spare time to helping others, you'll find a telephone man in the picture.

Charge Negligence In Copake Drowning

A 16-year-old Nassau County youth has been charged with criminal negligence homicide in connection with the fatal boating accident which occurred at Copake Lake on the night of Aug. 17, that resulted in the death by drowning of 55-year-old John Unson of Claverack.

Clifford J. Wallsheim, of Syosett, a summer resident at the Columbia county lake, was taken into custody on a warrant obtained by District Attorney Roger Miner, who directed the investigation of the drowning with Sheriff Dewey A. Lawrence.

Wallsheim, a son of Dr. Joseph Wallsheim, appeared Wednesday before Copake Justice Clifford H. Campbell of Crayville. He was accompanied by his counsel, Judge William E. Connor, a former district attorney in Columbia county.

The accused youth, who had appeared voluntarily, was released in $3,000 bail, which was posted by his father, Judge Campbell adjourned hearing until Sept. 26 at 2 p. m. Judge Connor entered a plea of innocent for his client.

Coroner Donald Tkacy, who participated in the investigation of the drowning, had reported the cause of Unson's death was due to drowning as a result of a collision involving boats at the lake.

At the time of the boat mishap, Unson was fishing with his son-in-law, Leon Cotte of Claverack. Authorities said the Syosett youth was operating a power boat when it crashed into the rented rowboat in which Unson and Cotte were sitting. Investigators were told that the rowboat was displaying flashing red blinkers when it was hit.

Kingston Man Fined on Eight Traffic Counts

A 26-year-old Kingston man, who figured in a high speed police chase through city streets on the early morning of July 28, today appeared before City Judge Hubert A. Richter and paid fines aggregating $95.

John H. Fisher, of 161 O'Neil Street, faced eight summonses that were issued to him by police after he was apprehended. He was charged with failure to comply with an order of police, passing a stop sign, driving at a speed not reasonable and prudent, operating a car without lights, speeding, failure to keep to the right and two counts of passing red traffic lights.

Judge Richter also suspended Fisher's license for 30 days.

Duane Costello, 31, of Port Ewen, paid a $50 fine. He was charged with driving while his ability was impaired. In addition to the fine his operator's license was suspended for 90 days.

Francis Twohig, 18, of Hurley, who was charged with speeding was permitted to plead guilty to failure to keep to the right. He was fined $50 by Judge Richter. Philip Fox, 22, of Saugerties, was fined $20 for speeding.

Fines imposed today totaled $230 and an addition $95 paid through waivers, made a total of $325 collected this morning in court.

Kerhonkson Landmark Will Reopen

The Five Nations Club, a Kerhonkson landmark abandoned after a fire in 1961, has recently been purchased and is scheduled to reopen as a restaurant and bar before the end of the year.

The large two-story wood frame building, located on the corner of Route 209 and 42nd Street in the Wawarsing village, has been purchased by Edward and Shirley Deyo of Kerhonkson.

Sold to the couple through the offices of Alma Edkert, Strout Realty in Accord, the landmark was also known as the Indian Valley Inn and was used as a stage coach stop on a run between Ellenville and Kingston.

Sometime after 1900, the inn property was sold to Perley C. Morse who called it The Indian Valley Inn, and it became one of the more popular eating places in the Rondout Valley.

The inn and surrounding land area was again sold in 1958, after years of successful operation, to William Joyce of Kerhonkson who renamed it The Five Nations Club.

It was operated as a private club and restaurant until it was almost completely destroyed by fire in 1961.

According to Miss Katharine Terwilliger, village historian, the present building is "about 100 years old."

Dyson Signs Fair Play Code; Cites Provisions

John Dyson, Congressional candidate in the 28th District, today announced that he had signed the Code of Fair Campaign Practices to insure his campaign will be based in the highest principles of fair play, and challenged his Republican opponent to do the same.

Dyson emphasized his dedication to the principles of fairness and termed the code "a measure of assurance of protection against dirty politics."

The Millbrook publisher pointed to three specific provisions and asked that Hamilton Fish, Jr. consider them carefully:

"I shall condemn my campaign in the best American tradition, discussing the issues as I see them."

"I shall condemn the use of defamation, whispering campaigns, libel, slander, or scurrilous attacks on any candidate or his personal or family life."

"I shall condemn any appeal to prejudice based on race, creed, or national origin."

Speaking at his headquarters opening at Hyde Park yesterday Dyson said "the Federal Bureau of Investigation's Crime Report for 1967 is proof positive that blaming the tremendous crime increase solely on the Democratic Party is merely an attempt to find a scapegoat for this increase."

"These statistics show that the two states with the largest crime rates are California with 3.2 crimes per 100 people and New York with 2.9 per 100. These two states, our most populous, are both governed by Republicans, though of different political philosophies."

Dyson indicated he was not indicting the Republicans for these high rates but merely used the statistic "to demonstrate that crime is not a political problem but one which requires immediate action at all levels of government and by both parties and all citizens."

Advertising Bids For Three UR Jobs

Bids are being advertised today for three Urban Renewal construction jobs in the project.

All three contracts will involve "a considerable expenditure," according to Ward Tongue, acting executive urban renewal director.

Approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the contracts are for:

1. the reconstruction of part of Maple Street, Murray Street and Meadow Street, including new street lights, sewers, water mains and paving.

2. New sheet pile docking along the Rondout Creek at the foot of Broadway, where the agency will create a neighborhood park. Replacement of the old dock must be completed before work can begin on the park.

3. Slope fill to support the existing retaining wall on the east side of Broadway between Newkirk Avenue and Stuyvesant Street.

Plans and specifications may be obtained at the agency office, 436 Broadway. A $50 deposit is required for each plan.

Tongue said the individual contract bids must be submitted by Sept. 18.

2 Children Hurt, Struck by Auto

Two children were injured at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday when they were struck by a car as they were standing on the pavement on New Prospect Road in Pine Bush.

Card of Thanks

Now that my doctors say I have fully recovered, writing a card of thanks to all is a big job. So I am taking this opportunity to thank each and every one who remembered me with flowers, gifts, cards, visits, phone calls and many other favors and thoughts. I cannot possibly express my appreciation to my doctors, nurses, hospital staff of the Kingston Hospital, employees who gave me excellent care, attention and friendship. I would also like to thank V.F.W., Legion and Auxiliary, Columbiettes, Catholic Daughters, and the Golden Age Club.

Ellenville State Police said Gerald M. Kowaski, 41, of Pine Bush was driving north on the road and passing over the crest of a hill when he saw the children on the pavement. He attempted to avoid hitting them but was unable to avert the mishap.

Taken to the Horton Memorial Hospital in Middletown were Cynthia Hawk, 7, of New Prospect Road, who was treated for lacerations of the head, and her sister, Jill, 3, who sustained abrasions of the back and legs.

Plans and specifications may be obtained at the agency office, 436 Broadway. A $50 deposit is required for each plan.

Tongue said the individual contract bids must be submitted by Sept. 18.

'On Right Track, But...'

More Recommendations for Safety on U.S. Waterways

NEW YORK (UPI) — A spokesman for the recreational boating industry believes it is on "the right track" in promoting safety and saving lives on the nation's waterways. But in a recent appearance before a Congressional subcommittee, Jeff W. Napier of the Boating Industry Association testified that even more could be done.

"Boating's steadily declining accident rate has proven that we are on the right track, but several improvements in existing laws could plug some gaps and save many more lives," he said.

Among some of the recommendations Napier presented to the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee's subcommittee on Coast Guard were these:

The Suggestions

—All motorboats be brought under the registration and safety equipment requirements of the Federal Boating Act of 1958. The law currently exempts boats under 10 horsepower from these requirements. Napier point out that nearly half the boating deaths each year occur in unregistered boats.

—Marine enforcement patrols be strengthened in quality and quantity. "We know from observation and marine patrol reports that vigorous enforcement of boating laws produces a dramatic reduction in violations and accidents," Napier said. "Essentially, this is a question of more money and manpower." He urged joint training of federal and state enforcement personnel to achieve uniformity.

—Safety standards based upon performance. Napier urged that the Coast Guard abandon its policy of following rigid specifications on approval of life preservers and consider recent technological advances which have produced devices that are more comfortable and therefore more likely to be worn.

—Better federal-state cooperation on boating law enforcement. "The penalty system used by the Coast Guard is cumbersome and results in a very low conviction rate, largely, we think, because it must employ the federal courts for what are essentially traffic violations," Napier said. "Greater reliance on state enforcement could streamline the process."

Capsize Main Target

—An all-out attack on the number one cause of boating fatalities: capsizing. Napier pointed out that his own association long had advocated weight capacity plates in small boats and most major manufacturers had backed this recommendation by installing plates voluntarily.

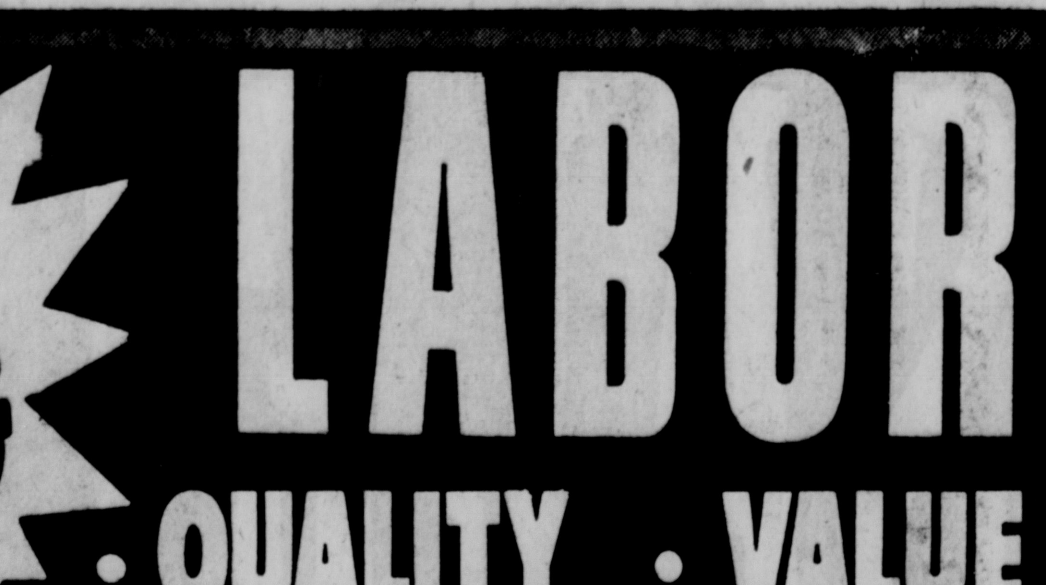

Napier also called for more use of flotation materials in small boat construction, pointing out that their use wouldn't necessarily prevent accidents, "but it will enable the accident victims to await rescue in a wet, but still upright-floating boat."

The Congressional hearing was called to consider President Johnson's proposed recreational Boating Safety Act of 1968.

NEW PRODUCT: What to do with that gasoline remaining in the tank at the end of a boating season? A Chicago manufacturer has come up with a gasoline additive that prevents formation of gum and varnish that clog fuel systems when engines are stored or used intermittently. One ounce of the product in a gallon of gasoline completely stabilizes the gasoline and eliminates the mess of dismantling and boiling out carburetors, cleaning needle jets, valves, etc., according to the manufacturer.

The product, "Sta-Bil," is produced by Knox Laboratories, Chicago.

Organized Religion -- Free Tax Ride

By Louis Cassels
United Press International
One of America's wealthiest property-holders is getting a free tax ride, and some people wonder if it's fair, right and proper.

The free-loader is organized religion.

U.S. churches and synagogues own about $80 billion worth of real estate and $20 billion worth of stocks and bonds. Their total wealth exceeds the combined assets of the nation's 10 largest industrial corporations.

Special Benefits
Along with many other types of non-profit institutions, including hospitals, colleges, social welfare agencies, fraternal organizations and scientific societies, churches enjoy special benefits under the tax laws. The most important is that the government encourages voluntary contributions to such organizations by making them deductible from the contributor's income tax. This has proved to be a very significant stimulus to philanthropy.

Organizations eligible for tax-deductible contributions do not have to pay income taxes on any revenues derived from their regular activities. But most of them do have to pay taxes on "unrelated business income"—that is, revenue earned from the publication of a magazine or operation of a business which is not directly related to the organization's primary purpose. Churches, however, do not even have to pay taxes on "unrelated business income."

Thanks to a loophole which Congress wrote into the tax laws in 1950, religious organizations can and do own all kinds of business enterprises, ranging from a baseball stadium to a chain of hamburger stands, whose profits are entire tax exempt.

No Property Tax
Income tax exemptions are important at the federal and state levels. On the local level, churches—along with private schools, hospitals and most other non-profit civic activities—are exempt in most communities from property taxes. The constitutionality of the property tax exemption was challenged in the Maryland courts in 1966 by militant atheist Madelyn Murray. The state's highest court rejected her claim that it violates church-state separation for religious bodies to be free of taxes on their real estate. The U.S. Supreme Court refused to review this ruling.

But Alfred Balk points out in his new book, "The Religion Business" (John Knox Press), that property tax exemptions for churches and other non-profit institutions raise serious questions of public policy, even if there is no constitutional problem.

Large Increase
"Three decades ago," says Balk, "only about 12 per cent of the real estate in the United States was tax exempt. Today, the figure has risen to 30 per cent, with values of more than $325 billion."

A substantial hunk of this exempt property actually is owned by various echelons of government—for use as post offices, parks, libraries, public schools, etc. But one-fourth of the total is church property, which means that religious bodies bear a major share of responsibility for the situation.

Airlines Moving on Congestion in Air

By VERN HAUGLAND
WASHINGTON (AP) — Airline representatives faced with a threat of compulsory government scheduling have agreed to fight air congestion by shuffling schedules and perhaps suspending some bargain fare schemes at peak periods.

A committee of the airlines also has agreed to seek Civil Aeronautics Board permission to set up an industry clearing house for scheduling and a committee with the power to make changes in schedules if airport capacity is threatened.

Four Key Cities
The clearing house and committee would be particularly concerned with New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and Washington.

Air congestion has been a growing problem over the past few years but it reached epidemic proportions last month when air traffic controllers launched a by-the-book safety campaign. Since then there have been hours-long delays at many airports, particularly in the New York area.

The airlines took the proposals to the Federal Aviation Administration today.

ALAN S. BOYD

The airlines group met for several hours at CAB headquarters Tuesday. Later Stuart G. Tipton, president of the Air Transport Association, said he was confident the airlines could come to scheduling agreements much as they do on other difficult matters, such as fares and classes of service.

David D. Thomas, acting FAA administrator, and Alan S. Boyd, Secretary of Transportation, have warned the airlines that if they did not act to ease traffic flow in the New York area the FAA might have to resort to compulsory scheduling.

Both Boyd and CAB Chairman John H. Crocker Jr., have said they would prefer not to get involved in scheduling.

Tipton said: "If the government takes over the scheduling of an airline it had better take over the airline—and that would turn the U.S. system into a system like Aeroflot," the Soviet government-owned airline.

Tipton told a news conference the airlines group also discussed possible elimination of some of the special low fares during the busiest travel hours or holiday travel congestion.

Some of the airlines are strongly opposed to these suggestions, however. It was agreed that children's fares and the visit-USA type of fares would not even be considered for any alterations.

At their day-long meeting Tuesday, the airlines also proposed that:

Proposals

— Floyd Bennett Naval Air Station near Kennedy Airport, be closed as soon as possible.

Pending the closing, military aircraft would be asked to suspend operations at Kennedy during the peak hours at Kennedy. Tipton said last Sunday 50 planes were kept waiting in line on the ramp at Kennedy because of interference by Floyd Bennett traffic.

— The CAB move forward on the application of Pan American World Airways for authority to acquire Teterboro and Republic airports in the New York area for use by private aviation.

— Officials work for a fourth jet airport, and a system of general aviation airports, for the change proposals to panels of air tariff experts for further study. They're to be reconsidered by the committee at a meeting Sept. 5.

Meanwhile, the FAA plans to publish Sept. 3 new regulations for all aircraft approaching or leaving the New York area. The industry will have a month in which to consider and suggest changes to the proposals before they go into effect.

Brydges Labels Student Riots As Undemocratic

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The state legislature's ranking Republican says many leaders who demand a return to law and order "are secretly espousing a racist philosophy."

Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges, in an address Wednesday before the annual state farm dinner of the Syracuse Chamber of Commerce, charged that such a philosophy is a "dastardly attack on the patriotism and the morality of millions of concerned and committed citizens."

The address marked the first of a series of appearances by the Niagara Falls Republican at the New York State Fair, where he is representing the vacationing Gov. Rockefeller.

He particularly attacked the student uprisings at Columbia University this past spring and those who have rioted in many of the nation's cities.

Of the students who crippled Columbia for many weeks, Brydges said: "Do they not see that when a version of law and order" is stable society is undermined and "wholly undemocratic" anarchy prevails, true academic whither and perish?"

Those who riot in the cities fail to see that "they are helping to destroy the very freedom and social gains to which they aspire."

Drug Cases Adjudicated

Hearings in the cases pending against two Ellenville men on charges of possessing dangerous drugs have been adjourned by Police Judge Ronald Elias in that community, Eddie Davis 3. He was returned to jail of 24 North Main Street, pending disposition of the charges.

Airlines Moving on Congestion in Air

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airline representatives faced with a threat of compulsory government scheduling have agreed to fight air congestion by shuffling schedules and perhaps suspending some bargain fare schemes at peak periods.

A committee of the airlines also has agreed to seek Civil Aeronautics Board permission to set up an industry clearing house for scheduling and a committee with the power to make changes in schedules if airport capacity is threatened.

Four Key Cities

The clearing house and committee would be particularly concerned with New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and Washington.

Air congestion has been a growing problem over the past few years but it reached epidemic proportions last month when air traffic controllers launched a by-the-book safety campaign. Since then there have been hours-long delays at many airports, particularly in the New York area.

The airlines took the proposals to the Federal Aviation Administration today.

ALAN S. BOYD

The airlines group met for several hours at CAB headquarters Tuesday. Later Stuart G. Tipton, president of the Air Transport Association, said he was confident the airlines could come to scheduling agreements much as they do on other difficult matters, such as fares and classes of service.

David D. Thomas, acting FAA administrator, and Alan S. Boyd, Secretary of Transportation, have warned the airlines that if they did not act to ease traffic flow in the New York area the FAA might have to resort to compulsory scheduling.

Both Boyd and CAB Chairman John H. Crocker Jr., have said they would prefer not to get involved in scheduling.

Tipton said: "If the government takes over the scheduling of an airline it had better take over the airline—and that would turn the U.S. system into a system like Aeroflot," the Soviet government-owned airline.

Tipton told a news conference the airlines group also discussed the possible elimination of some of the special low fares during the busiest travel hours or holiday-travel congestion.

Some of the airlines are strongly opposed to these suggestions, however. It was agreed that children's fares and the visit-USA type of fares would not even be considered for any alterations.

At their day-long meeting Tuesday, the airlines also proposed:

Proposals

— Floyd Bennett Naval Air Station near Kennedy Airport be closed as soon as possible.

Pending the closing, military aircraft would be asked to suspend operations at Bennett during the peak hours at Kennedy.

Tipton said last Sunday 50 planes were kept waiting in line on the ramp at Kennedy because of interference by Floyd Bennett traffic.

— The CAB move forward on the application of Pan American World Airways for authority to acquire Teterboro and Republic airports in the New York area for use by private aviation.

— Officials work for a fourth jet airport, and a system of general aviation airports, for the change proposals to panels of air tariff experts for further study. They're to be reconsidered by the committee at a meeting Sept. 5.

Meanwhile, the FAA plans to publish Sept. 3 new regulations for all aircraft approaching or leaving the New York area. The industry will have a month in which to consider and suggest changes to the proposals before they go into effect.

Brydges Labels Student Riots As Undemocratic

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The state legislature's ranking Republican says many leaders who demand a return to law and order "are secretly espousing a racist philosophy."

Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges, in an address Wednesday before the annual state farm dinner of the Syracuse Chamber of Commerce, charged that such a philosophy is a "dastardly attack on the patriotism and the morality of millions of concerned and committed citizens."

The address marked the first of a series of appearances by the Niagara Falls Republican at the New York State Fair, where he is representing the vacationing Gov. Rockefeller.

The idea that "evil in our society, whether real or apparent, can be corrected by subversion of law and order" is "wholly undemocratic," Brydges said.

He particularly attacked the student uprisings at Columbia University this past spring and the 63-year-old Brydges said those who have rioted in many of the nation's cities, "are helping to destroy the very freedom of the students who crippled domes and social gains to which Columbia for many weeks, Brydges they aspire."

Drug Cases Adjourned

Hearings in the cases pending against two Ellenville men on charges of possessing dangerous drugs have been adjourned by Police Judge Ronald Elias in that community, Eddie Davis of 24 North Main Street, receiving an adjournment until charges.

Sept. 10 at 7 p.m. His bail was reduced to $500, but in lieu of bail he was remanded to the county jail. The case against Edward Green of 11 Hermance Street, was put over until Sept. 3. He was returned to jail pending disposition of the charges.

During Shutdown

Dam Inside Aqueduct Could Ease Paltz Village Water

By Charles Bermpohl

The possibility of a serious water supply problem in the Village of New Paltz may be averted by the construction of a dam inside the aqueduct, that runs from the Ashokan Reservoir to New York City.

The New York City Department of Water Supply briefly shut down a section of the aqueduct in May, reportedly to install new equipment.

During the shutdown, serious leaks or breaks were found in the line near Garrison Putnam County and it was determined that an inspection and repairs would have to be made.

"We'll Be All Right"

The line, which serves the Village of New Paltz, and through the village, the Town of New Paltz as well, will be shut down at its closest point to the population center at Mountain Rest Road.

Village Trustee Harold Phillips told The Freeman, "We'll be all right," when the aqueduct is closed, some time during the end of September.

Grant Dies, Grandson of Famous General

CLINTON, N.Y. (UPI)—Major Gen. U.S. Grant III, grandson of the famous Civil War general and former President, died Wednesday night at his home here. He was 87.

Grant, a graduate of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, served in the armed forces in both world wars and was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal and the Legion of Merit.

Born on July 4, 1881, Grant attended Columbia University before entering West Point. In 1907 he married Edith Root, daughter of Elihu Root.

Funeral arrangements were pending.

Christus Larios explained, a temporary dam could be constructed at the New Paltz site.

Larios stated that the aqueduct can be likened to a tunnel, and egg-shaped 17 feet high at its widest point.

Because it is one long underground pipeline, the aqueduct cannot be kept partially open, nor can it be fully dammed at the Garrison location.

If it were fully dammed, the blocked up water would blow out of manholes and out of the many openings in the pipeline itself.

"The initial phase (of the shutdown) would not be harmful," Larios said, but he added that the village does not have storage facilities to handle a shutdown that would last longer than 10 days.

The idea of damming arose when it was learned that there was a four to five million gallon leakage from the reservoir into the aqueduct and that this quantity could be drawn off to serve the village, town, and State University College.

According to Larios, a plywood section, cut to the shape of the aqueduct, along with polyethylene material located at the cutoff line leading to the village, would take the "leakage" to the village.

The leakage amount is considered by Larios as a "mere trickle," when compared to the 500 million gallons that flow through the pipe at New Paltz in a normal day.

Secondary Sewer Plant Discussed

The construction of a secondary sewer treatment plant off Huguenot Street in the Village of New Paltz was the principal topic of discussion at a lively meeting of the village board this week.

Progress on the new plant, which recently received a $537,000 grant from the state, is virtually "at a standstill," according to Christus Larios, partner of the engineering firm of Brinnier and Larios.

The secondary sewer treatment plant, an expansion of the original facilities, can remove up to 85 per cent of the bacteria found in sewage waste.

Construction of the facilities was ordered by the state in that the village, along with the City of Kingston, the Town of Lloyd at Highland, and the Village of Saugerties are among the chief polluters of the county's waterways and the Hudson River, according to Larios.

The primary sewer treatment plant, built in 1958 off the historic street and on the banks of the Wallkill River, destroys only about 35 per cent of the sewer bacteria.

Many village residents, said Larios, fear that the new treatment facilities will affect the appearance of Huguenot Street and their presence at the board meeting gave emphasis to their concern.

The civil engineer explained that the only section of the plant that would be visible from the street would be the sludge drying beds that will have greenhouse-like structures built around them and that the only way these structures could be seen would be if one stood at the back of the parking lot of the Dutch Reformed Church.

Nevertheless, Larios declared, the state will reevaluate the distance of the plant from the famous street, made a historical monument some years ago.

Larios has suggested that further landscaping might be the answer but that to move the plant would "double the cost" of the project.

About $900,000 will be spent for the secondary treatment plant, one per cent to be paid by the federal government, 59 per cent by the state, and the other 40 per cent by the village.

The State University College, largest user of the facilities, Larios explained, will pay "a large chunk" of that 40 per cent.

Whatever the outcome of the new study to be made by the state and the federal government, the order from Governor Rockefeller was that secondary plants would have to be built at pollution centers by 1970.

Dam Inside Aqueduct Could Ease Paltz Village Water

A partner in the civil engineering firm of Brinnier and Larios declared, however, that should repair work be extensive, the line at New Paltz could be shut down as long as 30 days.

If this should be the case, many openings in the pipeline serve the village, town, and State University College.

Marvella Seeks Better Schools

"The time has come to extend the principle of universal free public education from pre-school nurseries through college," advised Liberal Party candidate for New York State Senate, Joseph A. Marvella, in a press release issued today.

The Liberal Party, he said, has always given the highest priorities to education at all levels. We need more and better schools. We need more and better trained teachers, guidance, supervisory and administrative personnel.

"We must establish quality integrated education for all and overcome insofar as possible the cultural deprivation of disadvantaged minorities."

"We will maintain our firm opposition to any legislative attempt to restrict the means by which a school district may seek to achieve both quality and integration in education."

Marvella Seeks Better Schools

"The time has come to extend the principle of universal free public education from pre-school nurseries through college," advised Liberal Party candidate for New York State Senate, Joseph A. Marvella, in a press release issued today.

The Liberal Party, he said, has always given the highest priorities to education at all levels. We need more and better schools. We need more and better trained teachers, guidance, supervisory and administrative personnel.

"We must establish quality integrated education for all and overcome insofar as possible the cultural deprivation of disadvantaged minorities.

"We will maintain our firm opposition to any legislative attempt to restrict the means by which a school district may seek to achieve both quality and integration in education."

Reality in Woodstock Theatre

POLITICS, a play and the depicted so outrageously as to prompt a male member of the audience to jump up from his seat in anger and protest. It Like It Is" at the Performing Arts of Woodstock.

In the production, social and political evils of today were as they were.

Still greatly disturbed by the content of the production, the man then mounted the stage and wrestled with one of the actors in a scene that was so realistic that other members of the audience went to the rescue and . . . someone called the police!

As the acting company explained later to a Woodstock constable, the outraged member of the audience was actually a part of the entire cast.

The hoax was carried out in order to bring "reality to the theatre."

WE UNDERSTAND Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick plans to open a new factory in Ellenville this fall, perhaps in the field of plastics.

Meanwhile he had been in Leeds, England on business and is now at the Democratic National Convention.

When he returns it is expected he will make formal announcement of his business plans.

WONDERS or deals never cease. Not too long ago we reported that John Barry, an advisor to GOP Congressional candidate Hamilton Fish Jr., left the Fish staff because of unhappiness over the Dutchess County lawyer's selection of a campaign manager. It was at that time S. James Matthews also ceased working actively for Fish for much the same reason.

Then, earlier this month, Barry, in a press release concerning his wife, Jane's book, "Grass Roots," intimated that Fish might be concerned that the novel, in which he is "fictionally" portrayed, would prove a detriment to his campaign.

Just last Friday, Fish and Barry had a genial encounter at Mrs. Barry's autographing party in Kingston during which Barry, commenting on Fish's upcoming trip to Vietnam, quipped, "I'll go along with you as far as Hawaii."

Everyone laughed good-naturedly.

Today, Barry left with Fish, not for Hawaii but all the way to Vietnam.

Could this mean he is going to campaign with him "all the way" too?

An astute and adept practitioner, Barry is an asset to anyone he agrees to work for.

GEORGE WALLACE got the signatures he needed on his petition in Ulster County, although the third party presidential candidate shouts loudest for law and order, the FBI reports that while he was Alabama's governor, 1962-66, crime in his state increased 42.2 per cent while it increased nationally only 29 per cent during the same period.

THE LIBERAL Republican Jacob Javits argues that Conservatives are splitting the party. Not so, some Republicans point out.

In New York States there are 150 members of the Assembly, 70 of whom are Republicans. Interestingly, 67 members running or 44 per cent have Conservative endorsement.

In the state senate, there are 57 seats, 31 of which are held by the GOP. Of those running, 20 or 34 per cent have Conservative backing.

In the U. S. Congress too, there are 41 Republicans. Twenty are running with the Conservative endorsement. That's 49 per cent.

Catholics Irked Over Removal Of Seven Priests

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Roman Catholic couples involved in the Christian Family Movement in the diocese of Buffalo have protested the removal of seven priests from teaching positions in a seminary because they spoke against Pope Paul's encyclical on birth control.

In a letter to the Most Rev. James A. McNulty, bishop of the Buffalo Catholic diocese, the five-officer couples of the church's movement said they wanted to inform the Bishop "of the widespread and deep concern that has been made unknown to us by so many of the laity in this diocese concerning the encyclical and the reports that have appeared concerning the position taken by many priests in the diocese."

Six of the removed priests at St. John Vianney Seminary in nearby East Aurora had expressed their opposition to the Pope's July 29 encyclical in a letter to the Bishop. The seventh earlier signed the American Theologians' dissent.

The group also sent a letter to the affected priests.

"We deplore the fact that sanctions have been imposed that affect your immediate positions and the performance of your ministry...." the letter said.

"It is apparent that your convictions must, at least in part, be based upon your very Christian realization of the burden, the anguish and the unfortunate consequences that must necessarily result from compliance with this encyclical which so grossly ignores the recommendations of so many qualified and dedicated people," the letter to the priests said.

One of the seven priests was transferred to a pastorate in Batavia. Four were given assistant pastorates and a sixth was assigned to the faculty of a preparatory seminary. The seventh priest was to be assigned by his own Archbishop in Boston.

Reality in Woodstock Theatre

POLITICS, a play and the depicted so outrageously as to prompt a male member of the audience to jump up from his seat in anger and protest. It Like It Is" at the Performing Arts of Woodstock.

In the production, social and political evils of today were as they were.

Still greatly disturbed by the content of the production, the man then mounted the stage and wrestled with one of the actors in a scene that was so realistic that other members of the audience went to the rescue and . . . someone called the police!

As the acting company explained later to a Woodstock constable, the outraged member of the audience was actually a part of the entire cast.

The hoax was carried out in order to bring "reality to the theatre."

WE UNDERSTAND Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick plans to open a new factory in Ellenville this fall, perhaps in the field of plastics.

Meanwhile he had been in Leeds, England on business and is now at the Democratic National Convention.

When he returns it is expected he will make formal announcement of his business plans.

WONDERS or deals never cease. Not too long ago we reported that John Barry, an advisor to GOP Congressional candidate Hamilton Fish Jr., left the Fish staff because of unhappiness over the Dutchess County lawyer's selection of a campaign manager. It was at that time S. James Matthews also ceased working actively for Fish for much the same reason.

Then, earlier this month, Barry, in a press release concerning his wife, Jane's book, "Grass Roots," intimated that Fish might be concerned that the novel, in which he is "fictionally" portrayed, would prove a detriment to his campaign.

Just last Friday, Fish and Barry had a genial encounter at Mrs. Barry's autographing party in Kingston during which Barry, commenting on Fish's upcoming trip to Vietnam, quipped, "I'll go along with you as far as Hawaii."

Everyone laughed good-naturedly.

Today, Barry left with Fish, not for Hawaii but all the way to Vietnam.

Could this mean he is going to campaign with him "all the way" too?

An astute and adept practitioner, Barry is an asset to anyone he agrees to work for.

GEORGE WALLACE got the signatures he needed on his petition in Ulster County. Although the third party presidential candidate shouts loudest for law and order, the FBI reports that while he was Alabama's governor, 1962-66, crime in his state increased 42.2 per cent while it increased nationally only 29 per cent during the same period.

THE LIBERAL Republican Jacob Javits argues that Conservatives are splitting the party. Not so, some Republicans point out.

In New York State there are 150 members of the Assembly, 70 of whom are Republicans. Interestingly, 67 members running or 44 per cent have Conservative endorsement.

In the state senate, there are 57 seats, 31 of which are held by the GOP. Of those running, 20 or 34 per cent have Conservative backing.

In the U. S. Congress too, there are 41 Republicans. Twenty are running with the Conservative endorsement. That's 49 per cent.

'Who Holds Key To Middle East,' Questions Fish

"Who holds the key to the Middle East?" asks Republican Congressional candidate Hamilton Fish in a press release issued today.

"It is a little more than a year since the Israelis achieved a stunning victory over the Arabs in the Middle East. But the history of conflict in this area goes back even further—at least 20 years—to the creation of the State of Israel.

While United States troops are not involved in the Arab-Israeli dispute, we are, together with all nations, affected by the tensions it created. We cannot ignore that in recent years Soviet interference in the Middle East has increased tensions there and around the world. Had the Arabs not counted on Soviet military assistance they would not have provoked the 1967 conflict.

"We must recognize," the Millbrook lawyer said, "that for the present, the Soviets are actively engaged in the Middle East and that another full-scale war threatens. The Soviets are using radical Arab regimes as the Nazis used Spain in the 1930's—to test weapons and to test the will of the democracies.

"The Israelis must remain economically and militarily strong to be effective in future negotiations with the Arabs. Now that France refuses to supply weapons to the Israelis, that burden must be assumed by the U.S. and our NATO allies.

"As your congressman, I shall vote for legislation fostering: "1. Recognition of Israeli sovereignty by the Arab states (even the Soviet Union has done so);

"2. Guarantee of free access to the Suez and other international waterways, especially the Red Sea, the Gulf of Aquaba and the Straits of Tiran.

"To achieve peace in the Middle East, I recommend the restatement of the proposal set forth by former President Eisenhower, which won Senate endorsement.

"The proposal calls for the development of the Middle East, through the use of atomic power. Banned down by the war in Vietnam, the Johnson-Humphrey administration has neglected this blueprint for peace and progress."

One of County's Best Paid

Ellenville Cops Keep Active

By CHARLES BERMPOHL

The 13-man Village of Ellenville Police Department is one of the highest paid in Ulster County and one of the most active.

A new patrolman will earn $5,400 for a 40-hour week, which is $700 more than he earned last year. The recent figure compares favorably with the Village of New Paltz which pays $5,100 a year, and the Village of Saugerties with its $4,600.

For the $5,400, the village's new foot patrolmen cover the main business area from the Dutch Reformed Church on Canal Street, the village's east side, to Warren Street at the south end, north to the Ellenville Savings Bank and on to the west end of the Wawarsing population center.

Having passed a civil service examination and been chosen from the top of the list of test scores, a potential candidate for village patrolman faces 240 hours of schooling and field training.

Schooling in Rockland

He is also required to be interviewed by police officials and Chief Abraham Rand.

The civil service exam covers such topics as the new penal law, motor vehicle laws, the criminal code of procedure, first aid and general practices.

In preparation for the test, police hopefuls may study McKinney's New York State Revised Penal Law and the Proposed New York Criminal Procedure Law.

Should he be accepted as a patrolman, his schooling will begin at the Rockland County Community College in Monsey, given under the auspices of the Municipal Police Training Council of the State of New York.

The school will open this year on Sept. 4 and continue through Nov. 8.

The schooling includes two weeks at Camp Smith in Peekskill for the learning of defensive tactics and the use of weapons.

The candidate also goes back to Ellenville for field training before he returns to the Rockland County school for final tests.

Once the candidate has been accepted, he is assigned to regular patrols, usually with another patrolman first.

Should he be assigned to perform his duties from one of the two village police cars, he may log as much as 3,300 miles in a month. In July, Ellenville's police cars logged 6,608 miles.

Some 40 miles of streets are covered in a single day, according to Chief Rand.

To start off, the new patrolman is given $75 for clothing and equipment allowance, followed by a $50 allowance for each succeeding year.

Different From 1941

Today's Ellenville Police Force is considerably different from the one that guarded and protected village residents and property back in 1941, when Chief Rand joined the four-man force as a patrolman. Rand, explained, that he started off receiving $1,200 a year for a six-day week. The department then was headquartered at the 70 Canal Street municipal building.

Included within the department's facilities was a cell block containing three cells.

"When I first came on the force, the village bought my uniform for me. Later (village officials) discontinued the process," Rand told The Freeman. The new building on Canal Street, previously owned by the New York Telephone Company and recently rehabilitated for the village's use, has wood-paneled offices for the police, with a chief's room, interrogation room, a front office with a modern communications setup, a cellblock with 10 individual cells, and a locker room with lockers for all the police officers and for special equipment.

The department has photographic and finger equipment.

Ellenville Nears Finish Of Demolition

Demolition of the old Masonic Hall on Ellenville's Canal Street is nearing completion.

The building, located between Whelan's Drug Store and Albert's Bakery, is coming down brick by brick because of its close proximity to the two neighboring buildings.

A spokesman for the Stashnik Demolition Company said that the job, part of the village's urban renewal project, should be finished in about four weeks.

Supports for the demolition equipment had to be constructed to cross underground cesspools.

Special permission had to be granted by the Department of Housing and Urban Development of Housing and Urban Development in New York City in order for Stashnik to begin work.

The company had been the only bidder on a project which required at least two bidders, according to an urban renewal formula.

Rondout Seeks Workers to Aid In School Voting

A call for volunteers to aid in the planning and implementation of the upcoming Rondout Valley School District voting day, Sept. 6, went out today from William Davenport.

Davenport and other interested citizens will meet tonight at 8 at the High Falls Fire House to rally for support for a "yes" vote to restore extra curricular activities including sports and music in the school program.

The volunteer organization has agreed to take over the mechanics of voting day including supplying 24 persons to serve election duty.

Anyone interested in serving in any capacity is urged to attend tonight's meeting.

Three Hurt, Driver Cited in Rosendale Crash

A two-car collision on Route 213 in the Town of Rosendale at 12:55 a. m. today resulted in injuries to three persons and the issuance of a summons to a motorist for driving to the left of the pavement marking.

Trooper R. C. Rose of Kingston reported after an investigation that the car were driven by James Burke, 28 of Westbury, L. I., and John Coletti, 72, of New Paltz.

Injured and treated at Kingston Hospital were Burke, who sustained a bump on the forehead; Eileen Burke, 30, of Westbury, who received treatment for injuries of the forehead and right knee, and Coletti, who suffered contusions of the left knee and left elbow.

Burke was cited by Trooper Rose for the traffic violation. The summons is returnable later before Rosendale Town Justice Wilfred Doolittle.

Troopers reported, the Burke car was traveling west on Route 213 when it allegedly crossed the dividing line and into the collision occurred. The Coletti car continued across the road and struck rocks.

Shandaken GOP Meets

The regular meeting of the Town of Shandaken Republican Club will be held Sept. 19 at 8 p. m.

There will be panel discussions by the Town Board and the Town Planning Board. Members and the public are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Dutchess Boy, Greene Man Die in Traffic Accidents

By WALTER S. CLARK

An 11-year-old Dutchess County boy was fatally injured Wednesday afternoon when his bicycle was involved in a collision with a truck, and a

Greene County man died in the hospital at Catskill about five hours after his car struck a power pole on Route 23 in that Township.

Chief Investigator Charles Borchers of the Dutchess County sheriff's office, said Steven Van Leuven, of Hibernia Road, Pleasant Valley, was the victim of the car-bicycle fatality. The boy was riding easterly on Hibernia Road in the Town of Clinton at 4:30 p. m. when the driver of a truck, Herbert R. Algermissen, 32, of Hunns Lake Road, Bangall, saw him.

Algermissen, who was operating his 1963 pickup truck in the same direction, told investigators later that he turned the vehicle sharply to the left but was unable to avoid the mishap. The boy was rushed to Vassar Hospital by the Pleasant Valley Rescue Squad. He died at 5:52 p. m.

Dr. William G. Thompson of Rhinebeck, an assistant medical examiner, who investigated with Borchers and Deputy Sheriff Gerald Kaplan, said the boy died of a fractured skull. Dr. Thompson ruled the death accidental pending a formal inquest to be held later.

Meanwhile, Leeds State Trooper E.E. LaPlant reported Joseph Sezzo, 48, of Star Route,

Catskill, was driving his car westerly on Route 23 in the Town of Catskill at 5:45 p. m. yesterday, when for some unknown reason the vehicle left the pavement and struck a utility pole.

Sezzo, according to Trooper Donald Porter, was taken to the Greene County Memorial Hospital, where an examination indicated he suffered "minor injuries." He was admitted at the hospital following treatment and at 10:25 p. m. he died.

Greene county authorities ordered an autopsy to determine the cause of death. BCI Investigator Joseph Valicenti will continue the investigation.

One of County's Best Paid

Ellenville Cops Keep Active

By CHARLES BERMPOHL

The 13-man Village of Ellenville Police Department is one of the highest paid in Ulster County and one of the most active.

A new patrolman will earn $5,400 for a 40-hour week, which is $700 more than he earned last year. The recent figure compares favorably with the Village of New Paltz which pays $5,100 a year, and the Village of Saugerties with its $4,600.

For the $5,400, the village's new foot patrolmen cover the main business area from the Dutch Reformed Church on Canal Street, the village's east side, to Warren Street at the south end, north to the Ellenville Savings Bank and on to the west end of the Wawarsing population center.

Having passed a civil service examination and been chosen from the top of the list of test scores, a potential candidate for village patrolman faces 240 hours of schooling and field training.

Schooling in Rockland

He is also required to be interviewed by police officials and Chief Abraham Rand.

The civil service exam covers such topics as the new penal law, motor vehicle laws, the criminal code of procedure, first aid and general practices.

In preparation for the test, police hopefuls may study McKinney's New York State Revised Penal Law and the Proposed New York Criminal Procedure Law.

Should he be accepted as a patrolman, his schooling will begin at the Rockland County Community College in Monsey, given under the auspices of the Municipal Police Training Council of the State of New York.

The school will open this year on Sept. 4 and continue through Nov. 8.

The schooling includes two weeks at Camp Smith in Peekskill for the learning of defensive tactics and the use of weapons.

The candidate also goes back to Ellenville for field training before he returns to the Rockland County school for final tests.

Once the candidate has been accepted, he is assigned to regular patrols, usually with another patrolman first.

Should he be assigned to perform his duties from one of the two village police cars, he may log as much as 3,300 miles in a month. In July, Ellenville's police cars logged 6,608 miles.

Some 40 miles of streets are covered in a single day, according to Chief Rand.

To start off, the new patrolman is given $75 for clothing and equipment allowance, followed by a $50 allowance for each succeeding year.

Different From 1941

Today's Ellenville Police Force is considerably different from the one that guarded and protected village residents and property back in 1941, when Chief Rand joined the four-man force as a patrolman.

Rand explained that he started off receiving $1,200 a year for a six-day week. The department then was headquartered at the 70 Canal Street municipal building.

Included within the department's facilities was a cell block containing three cells.

"When I first came on the force, the village bought my uniform for me. Later (village officials) discontinued the practice," Rand told The Freeman.

The new building on Canal Street, previously owned by the New York Telephone Company and recently rehabilitated for the village's use, has wood-paneled offices for the police, with a chief's room, interrogation room, a front office with a modern communications setup, a cellblock with 10 individual cells, and a locker room with lockers for all the police officers and for special equipment.

The department has photographic and finger equipment.

Demolition of the old Masonic Hall on Ellenville's Canal Street is nearing completion.

The building, located between Whelan's Drug Store and Albert's Bakery, is coming down brick by brick because of its close proximity to the two neighboring buildings.

A spokesman for the Stashnik Demolition Company said that the job, part of the village's urban renewal project, should be finished in about four weeks.

Supports for the demolition equipment had to be constructed to cross underground cesspools.

Special permission had to be granted by the Department of Housing and Urban Development in New York City in order for Stashnik to begin work.

The company had been the only bidder on a project which required at least two bidders, according to an urban renewal formula.

Three Hurt, Driver Cited in Rosendale Crash

A two-car collision on Route 213 in the Town of Rosendale at 12:55 a. m. today resulted in injuries to three persons and the issuance of a summons to a motorist for driving to the left of the pavement marking.

Trooper R. C. Rose of Kingston reported after an investigation that the car were driven by James Burke, 28, of Westbury, L. I., and John Coletti, 72, of New Paltz.

Injured and treated at Kingston Hospital were Burke, who sustained a bump on the forehead; Eileen Burke, 30, of Westbury, who received treatment for injuries of the forehead and right knee, and Coletti, who suffered contusions of the left knee and left elbow.

Burke was cited by Trooper Rose for the traffic violation. The summons is returnable later before Rosendale Town Justice Wilfred Doolittle.

Troopers reported, the Burke car was traveling west on Route 213 when it allegedly crossed the dividing line and the collision occurred. The Coletti car continued across the road and struck rocks.

Dutchess Boy, Greene Man Die in Traffic Accidents

By WALTER S. CLARK

An 11-year-old Dutchess County boy was fatally injured Wednesday afternoon when his bicycle was involved in a collision with a truck, and a Greene County man died in the hospital at Catskill about five hours after his car struck a power pole on Route 23 in that Township.

Chief Investigator Charles Borchers of the Dutchess County sheriff's office, said Steven Van Leuven, of Hibernia Road, Pleasant Valley, was the victim of the car-bicycle fatality. The boy was riding easterly on Hibernia Road in the Town of Clinton at 4:30 p. m. when the driver of a truck, Herbert R. Algermissen, 32, of Hunns Lake Road, Bangall, saw him.

Algermissen, who was operating his 1963 pickup truck in the same direction, told investigators later that he turned the vehicle sharply to the left but was unable to avoid the mishap. The boy was rushed to the Vassar Hospital by the Pleasant Valley Rescue Squad. He died at 5:52 p. m.

Dr. William G. Thompson of Rhinebeck, an assistant medical examiner, who investigated with Borchers and Deputy Sheriff Gerald Kaplan, said the boy died of a fractured skull. Dr. Thompson ruled the death accidental pending a formal inquest to be held later.

Meanwhile, Leeds State Trooper E.E. LaPlant reported Joseph Sezzo, 48, of Star Route,

Catskill, was driving his car westerly on Route 23 in the Town of Catskill at 5:45 p. m. yesterday, when for some unknown reason the vehicle left the pavement and struck a utility pole.

Sezzo, according to Trooper Donald Porter, was taken to the Greene County Memorial Hospital, where an examination indicated he suffered "minor injuries". He was admitted at the hospital following treatment and at 10:25 p. m. he died.

Greene county authorities ordered an autopsy to determine the cause of death. BCI Investigator Joseph Valicenti will continue the investigation.

Hubert Horatio Humphrey—More Substance Than Style

By HARRY KELLY

CHICAGO (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has been called a "voice of the past" and a "man of his times." He has been called a super-guru to middle-aged liberals—and a betrayer of the liberal cause.

He has been called a cheerleader for the Vietnam war and a private doubter—a "happy warrior" and a "weeping hawk."

The usual Humphrey image is that of a fast-talking super-salesman with a sample case crammed with exclamations.

But there is more substance than style to Hubert Horatio Humphrey, 57, a man of burning ambition kindled in the populism, depression and dust storms of his South Dakota youth—when the depression sale of his boyhood home meant the end of childhood.

Thirty-three years ago Humphrey took his Huron, S.D., boy scout troop to see Washington. From the capital the young scoutmaster wrote his wife-to-be, Muriel Buck:

"I need to do more reading and writing, more thinking if ever I want to fulfill my dream of being someone in this world."

"I can see how someday, if you and I just apply ourselves to make up our minds to work for bigger things, we can live here in Washington and probably be in government politics or service.

AMERICA'S LARGEST FAMILY CLOTHING CHAIN

"I intend to set my aim at congress. Don't laugh at me, Muriel. Maybe it does sound rather egotistical and beyond reason, but Muriel, I do know others have succeeded."

Humphrey was born May 27, 1911, in a room over his father's drugstore in Wallace, S.D., a town of 100 or so in the prairie country. He was the second of four children, with an older brother Ralph and two sisters, Frances and Fern.

The Humphrey family moved to nearby Doland, a town of almost 500, when Hubert was 5.

The major influence in Humphrey's life was his father: "Dad was a wonderful man. He was my hero. He loved people, and he loved politics. He was virtually the only Democrat in a Republican town. But they elected him mayor, sent him to the state legislature and almost ran him for governor."

But Humphrey, in his bitter-sweet memories, also remembers the closing of the banks in the late 1920s caused economic havoc and "one day I came home from school and there were mom and dad in the orchard with tears. My dad said 'Son, I had to sell our house.'"

The dark days of depression had struck when Humphrey entered the University of Minnesota. People were trading chickens, eggs and meat for drugs at the Humphrey corner drug store. He had to drop out of college and his father started anew in nearby Huron, a bigger town of 6,000.

When his father was elected to the state legislature, Hubert took a speeded-up pharmacy course at the University of Denver so he could run the drugstore.

In 1936 he married Muriel and returned to the University of Minnesota. In two years he was graduated magna cum laude. Just before graduation, the first Humphrey child, Nancy, was born. But school still wasn't finished. He got a master of arts in political science on a teaching fellowship at Louisiana State University.

Then the first step to being "somebody" in the world. Two labor leaders asked Humphrey to run for mayor of Minneapolis. He lost the first time, ran again two years later and won. At 34, he was the youngest mayor of any major American city. But it was a city, as Humphrey recalls it, beset with problems of crime and bigotry.

"The first thing I did was hire a new and tough police chief, increase the policemen's salaries and told them I wasn't on the take and that they weren't going to be on the take either and then I said, 'We are going to have a clean town. Let's clean out the rackets,' and so we did."

Destiny gave him a shove toward the center of the national stage in 1948. He not only was running for the U.S. Senate but he was selected to head the state delegation to the Democratic convention in Philadelphia where Harry S. Truman's nomination was automatic but where a battle crackled over civil rights.

Humphrey, named to the platform committee, recalls: "They had a civil rights plank but it skirted the tough issues. We wanted a simple strong plank that supported President Truman's full civil rights program, with the stress on equal employment and equal treatment in the armed forces."

Rising before the convention, Humphrey urged a tougher plank and declared: "We place our faith in the brotherhood of men under the fatherhood of God. . . . I do not believe there can be any compromise on the guarantee of civil rights. . . ."

The convention passed the stronger plank. Southerners bolted and formed the Dixiecrats. Overnight Humphrey was a national figure.

And also that year of 1948 he became the first Democratic senator in Minnesota history.

But a few weeks ago, when Humphrey was introduced at the Minnesota Democratic Convention as a "man of his times," a heckler retorted derisively: "1948."

This Bronx cheer summed up critics' argument that Humphrey's vintage year was 20 years ago and the Humphrey wine has soured in the bottle with the LBJ label.

On the other hand, Humphrey probably wouldn't be where he is today without Johnson.

They were elected to the Senate the same year. Johnson moved quickly toward the inner circle and leadership. But Humphrey blew in like a prairie wind, assaulting the doors of traditional power.

Johnson had watched Humphrey, and when he was named Senate Democratic leader in 1953, he brought Humphrey into "the Club," telling the Senate elders Humphrey was "my link with the bomb throwers."

The Humphrey ambitions were still growing.

In 1956, Humphrey had expected that Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, would name him as his running mate. Instead, Stevenson threw the decision to the convention—which chose Sen. Estes Kefauver—and Humphrey was said to have been found by a friend crying in a corner of the convention hall.

And 1960 found Humphrey, undermanned and underfinanced, taking on John F. Kennedy in the Presidential primaries.

He rode to defeat in a battered bus. Eight years later, Humphrey rides in a sleek jet.

In 1960, says Humphrey, "I knew the odds were stacked against me. . . . I remember that a few of my so-called friends suddenly disappeared. You could become cynical and angry but it isn't worth it. . . . But I learned you can't win without money."

In 1964, Johnson picked Humphrey as his running mate. It hadn't been an easy job playing second fiddle to a demanding, sensitive conductor such as Lyndon B. Johnson.

To complaints that he has been the administration cheerleader on Vietnam, Humphrey replies: "There is no such thing as a vice president being too bomb thrower and burning liberal. . . . I didn't become vice president to doublecross the president."

But Humphrey acknowledges that liberal program you used to talk so much about, I look them straight in the eye and tell them, it's passed. That is what happened to it. It's the law of the land."

Neighborhood Youth Corps Helps Ease Poverty Impact

By JON POWERS
For the second consecutive summer, the federally funded Neighborhood Youth Corps has attempted to help ease the impact of poverty and deprivation on area youths by providing them with worthwhile and productive work experience in the Kingston area. The program, sponsored by the YMCA of Kingston and Ulster County and the Ulster County Community Action Committee, is financed by the U. S. Department of Labor and designed to assist city and county youths from low income families who, in addition to being economically deprived, are also often lacking in formal vocational training. Restricted to youths between the ages of 14 and 21 who are planning to continue their education, the program began in June of last year when Robert D. Stubbs, director of the Kingston "Y", received approval from the U. S. Department of Labor to proceed with the hiring of a Youth Corps staff and the enrollment of approximately 100 youngsters. Enrollees were assigned to non-profit and public agencies throughout Ulster County, including various Armed Forces recruiting stations, some area school districts, the Kingston Boys Club, Kingston Hospital, Kingston Area Library and the Urban Renewal Agency. In all, 145 youngsters have been given jobs in approximately 25 non-profit agencies in the county. They are limited to a work week of 26 hours and receive $1.50 per hour. While the monetary gains are not as great as in other areas of employment, the participants in this summer's program do, nevertheless, receive some wide-ranging benefits. The primary objective of the Youth Corps is not to provide vast sums of money but to help the youths raise their level of aspiration, develop realistic goals and alleviate the feeling of futility that often prevails among children from lower income families. According to Joseph F. DeGiacomo, Project Director, the Youth Corps program emphasizes both group and individual counseling for youths who come from families that are often second and third generation welfare recipients. They hope to alleviate or modify some of the attitudes that tend to perpetuate the need for welfare assistance. Included in this attempt, is forming a positive attitude in the minds of the youth towards school, summer work experience and future employability. The program provides benefits for the assisting counselors as well as for the participating youths. According to Mrs. Milton Reynolds, "It is tremendously satisfying to see a youngster as a result of your efforts looking forward to returning to school . . . and who now appreciates the value and necessity of a good education." James Rundle, YMCA Youth Director, summed up the value of the Youth Corps Program when he stated, "One youngster needed psychiatric help and we would never have known about it were it not for the Youth Corps."

Eisenhower Off Critical List, Future Outlook Still Uncertain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Doctors have taken Dwight D. Eisenhower off the critical list but still describe the outlook for full recovery from repeated heart attacks as uncertain. The former president and World War II commander had been listed as critical since suffering his seventh heart attack Aug. 16. Doctors, reporting Eisenhower has gone four days without major heart irritability, said Wednesday "we no longer view the immediate situation as critical but still view the over-all disease as serious." But doctors say they can't tell yet whether Eisenhower, 77, will be able to return to his normal active life. He had returned from a round of golf in Palm Springs, Calif., April 29 when he suffered the first of the four heart attacks which have kept him virtually bedridden for four months. "Because of the extent of Gen. Eisenhower's underlying coronary artery disease, his present condition must still be considered serious, albeit not necessarily critical at this time," said the afternoon medical bulletin from Walter Reed Army Hospital. "The long range outlook is still guarded and the potential for sudden reversal of the current favorable trend is ever present," it added. The general's latest trouble stemmed from spurts of ineffective heart fluttering called ventricular fibrillation, interspersed with irregular spasms called heart irritability. Cautious Optimism The doctors said Wednesday he showed "some further decrease" in the irritability. The day before doctors had expressed "cautious optimism" over Eisenhower's condition. Even before Eisenhower was taken off the critical list his son, John, and family returned to their home in Phoenixville, Pa. John Eisenhower and the former president's wife, Mamie, were at his side frequently during the critical period. "Mrs. Eisenhower continues to visit the general for short periods frequently," said the doctors. "Gen. Eisenhower's spirits remain good and he has been enjoying light background music at intervals through the last 24 hours," said Wednesday's bulletin.

Rotary Invites Starkman To Discuss Chollar Dollars

Michael C. Starkman, chairman of the Kiwanis Club's Chollar Dollar Committee, will address the Kingston Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon in the Gov. Clinton Hotel, Wednesday afternoon.

Starkman is the creator of the Chollar Dollar which is known locally as the Kiwanis Three-Dollar Bill. Money derived from the sale of the dollars will be used for the Kiwanis Club Scholarship Fund.

As Starkman explains it, the Three-Dollar Bill can be purchased at a bank and used when buying articles from participating merchants. The purchaser pays $1.50 for the Three-Dollar Bill. If he buys an article for $20, he gives the merchant $17 plus the Three-Dollar Bill. The cost to the customer is $18.50. The merchant then redeems the Three-Dollar Bill at a bank and receives a dollar for it.

The money is split six ways with the banks getting a fee, the Kiwanis getting a portion for their scholarship fund and other money going for advertising and printing of the Chollar Dollars.

ON WANTED LIST—Frederick Rudolph Yokom, reputed leader of a skilled group of jewel thieves known as the "Yokom Gang" and currently sought for fleeing interstate to avoid prosecution for robbery, has been placed on the FBI's list of "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives." A white American, Yokom was born Feb. 11, 1946. He is 5'8" to 5'9" tall, weighs 170 pounds, has a medium build, dark brown hair, brown eyes and a medium complexion. He has scars on the right side of his chin, on his wrist and abdomen. A tattoo of the name "Fred" appears on his left arm and he may wear a mustache. He should be considered armed and very dangerous. (FBI PHOTO FROM UPI TELEPHOTO)

AVOID OVERCROWDING—Don't expect clothes to "come clean" unless they have adequate room to jog around in the washer. For best results, avoid overcrowding the machine—and use sufficient soap or detergent.

Two Upstaters Viet Victims

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two more upstate New York servicemen have died in Vietnam, the Defense Department said Wednesday.

The Pentagon reported that Navy Gunner's Mate 3rd Class Richard M. Sprout of Lockport was killed in action.

Army Pfc. Harry D. Hamm of Utica, who previously had been listed as missing, died of non-hostile causes, the department said.

One of Napoleon's marshals, Jean Baptiste Jules Bernadotte, later became king of Sweden under the name of Charles XIV.

Convention In Brief

CHICAGO (AP) — The action at the Democratic National Convention leaves delegates, guests and newsmen hungry—and they've cut deeply into the food at famous Stock Yards Inn which adjoins the International Amphitheatre.

Since last Saturday night manager George Vourvoulas said the Inn has served 8,750 pounds of prime rib, 8,000 pounds of tenderloin and 5,500 pounds of strip sirloin. An additional 10,000 pounds of beef was trucked in Wednesday.

CHICAGO (AP) — Representatives of 62 nations are guests at the Democratic National Convention.

Dr. Guillermo Sevilla-Sacasa, ambassador of Nicaragua and dean of the diplomatic corps in Washington, said "this is such an important event and so exciting."

"The yuppies don't bother me at all," said Jacques Leprette, minister counselor of France. "We got lots of yuppies and hipies in France."

CHICAGO (AP) — Friendly enemies are present at the Democratic National Convention—a group of watchful Republicans headed by Congressman Donald Rumsfeld of Illinois.

"We do not consider ourselves a truth squad," said Rumsfeld. "Our purposes are simple and twofold. Basically, we are here as interested observers of the proceedings, reporting to Republican leaders around the country. Secondly, we are making ourselves available to the press should the record and programs of the Republican party need rapid clarification or exposition."

CHICAGO (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's oldest son thinks his dad, fresh from winning the Democratic presidential nomination, will have no trouble getting himself known by the voters.

"There are two solid months left for people to gaze into that TV tube," said Hubert III, 26-year-old law student.

"He's in there driving yet he'll bounce and laugh," said young Hubert. "He doesn't have long hair or the Kennedy image. He's not 35, or 45, but he's not 60 either." (Humphrey is 57).

CHICAGO (AP) — Betty Furness, President Johnson's advisor on consumer affairs, had a big laugh line in her brief speech to the Democratic National Convention.

"I can promise you one thing," said Miss Furness, the former movie and television star. "When the Republicans eat crow in November it will be federally inspected crow."

Fear Uppermost In Dyson's Mind Says Naccarato

The fact that Congressional candidate John Dyson does not indicate, on the many billboards advertising his candidacy for Congress, that he is a member of the Democratic Party, was questioned today by John Naccarato, county coordinator for the GOP candidate, Hamilton Fish.

"Is Dyson fearful of equating himself with the present administration in Washington?" Naccarato asks.

We feel that the answer to this question may well be in Dyson's recently released statement which praises him for his experience in drafting legislation.

"This is painfully true to the voters of the 28th District, as well as to the rest of the country," Naccarato said. "For it is this kind of legislation that has lowered the prestige of this country to its alltime low and kindled the riots and violence across our great nation."

Naccarato says the latest statement issued from the Dyson camp "begins in its usual redundant fashion, with the same old tired charge of failure to answer questions."

"More interestingly however, is Dyson repeated use of the word 'fear.' This leads one to believe that fear must be uppermost in the minds of the Dyson organization."

"The lone phrase of merit issued in his statement is 'which candidate has the better qualifications?'"

"We wholeheartedly conclude that the voters are making comparisons of the candidates and arriving at the obvious conclusion that it is time for a change. Hamilton Fish can give the constituents of the 28th District the change it so badly needs. He is a man who is proud to represent himself as a Republican to the voters of the 28th District."

Last U.S. president to be inaugurated in March was Franklin D. Roosevelt, March 4, 1933.

Moore Enters Innocent Plea

Winfield W. Moore, 31 of New Paltz, who on Christmas morning was brought down by police bullets in a shootout with state police was arraigned in county court Wednesday before Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Through his attorney Charles Saccaman, he entered a plea of innocent and the case was adjourned to Sept. 11 at 11 a.m. for motions. Bail of $2,000 was continued upon agreement with Assistant District Attorney Edward M.P. Green.

The 3½-hour siege was held at the Happy Hour Tavern on Route 32, Tillson where according to troopers Moore broke in and then called troopers in and then called troopers in and then called troopers in. He had been hospitalized for two months with injuries to the leg and chest from the gunshot wounds. He was shot twice as he reportedly drew a bead on point blank as a dozen or more troopers surrounded the tavern shielded behind patrol cars. Moore allegedly fired his shotgun at intervals at the police as they tried to persuade him to surrender.

Starkman is the creator of the Chollar Dollar which is known locally as the Kiwanis Three-Dollar Bill. Money derived from the sale of the dollars will be used for the Kiwanis Club Scholarship Fund.

As Starkman explains it, the Three-Dollar Bill can be purchased at a bank and used when buying articles from participating merchants. The purchaser pays $1.50 for the Three-Dollar Bill. If he buys an article for $20, he gives the merchant $17 plus the Three-Dollar Bill. The cost to the customer is $18.50. The merchant then redeems the Three-Dollar Bill at a bank and receives a dollar for it.

The money is split six ways with the banks getting a fee, the Kiwanis getting a portion for their scholarship fund and other money going for advertising and printing of the Chollar Dollars.

Convention In Brief

CHICAGO (AP) — The action at the Democratic National Convention leaves delegates, guests and newsmen hungry—and they've cut deeply into the food at famous Stock Yards Inn which adjoins the International Amphitheatre.

Since last Saturday night manager George Vourvoulas said the Inn has served 8,750 pounds of prime rib, 8,000 pounds of tenderloin and 5,500 pounds of strip sirloin. An additional 10,000 pounds of beef was trucked in Wednesday.

CHICAGO (AP) — Representatives of 62 nations are guests at the Democratic National Convention.

Dr. Guillermo Sevilla-Sacasa, ambassador of Nicaragua and dean of the diplomatic corps in Washington, said "this is such an important event and so exciting."

"The yuppies don't bother me at all," said Jacques Leprette, minister counselor of France. "We got lots of yuppies and hippies in France."

CHICAGO (AP) — Friendly enemies are present at the Democratic National Convention—a group of watchful Republicans headed by Congressman Donald Rumsfeld of Illinois.

"We do not consider ourselves a truth squad," said Rumsfeld. "Our purposes are simple and twofold. Basically, we are here as interested observers of the proceedings, reporting to Republican leaders around the country. Secondly, we are making ourselves available to the press should the record and programs of the Republican party need rapid clarification or exposition."

CHICAGO (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's oldest son thinks his dad, fresh from winning the Democratic presidential nomination, will have no trouble getting himself known by the voters.

"There are two solid months left for people to gaze into that TV tube," said Hubert III, 26-year-old law student.

"He's in there driving yet he'll bounce and laugh," said young Hubert. "He doesn't have long hair or the Kennedy image. He's not 35, or 45, but he's not 60 either." (Humphrey is 57).

CHICAGO (AP) — Betty Furness, President Johnson's advisor on consumer affairs, had a big laugh line in her brief speech to the Democratic National Convention.

"I can promise you one thing," said Miss Furness, the former movie and television star. "When the Republicans eat crow in November it will be federally inspected crow."

Fear Uppermost In Dyson's Mind Says Naccarato

The fact that Congressional candidate John Dyson does not indicate, on the many billboards advertising his candidacy for Congress, that he is a member of the Democratic Party, was questioned today by John Naccarato, county coordinator for the GOP candidate, Hamilton Fish.

"Is Dyson fearful of equating himself with the present administration in Washington?" Naccarato asks.

We feel that the answer to this question may well be in Dyson's recently released statement which praises him for his experience in drafting legislation.

"This is painfully true to the voters of the 28th District, as well as to the rest of the country," Naccarato said. "For it is this kind of legislation that has lowered the prestige of this country to its alltime low and kindled the riots and violence across our great nation."

Naccarato says the latest statement issued from the Dyson camp "begins in its usual redundant fashion, with the same old tired charge of failure to answer questions."

"More interestingly however, is Dyson repeated use of the word 'fear.' This leads one to believe that fear must be uppermost in the minds of the Dyson organization."

"The lone phrase of merit issued in his statement is 'which candidate has the better qualifications?'"

"We wholeheartedly conclude that the voters are making comparisons of the candidates and arriving at the obvious conclusion that it is time for a change. Hamilton Fish can give the constituents of the 28th District the change it so badly needs. He is a man who is proud to represent himself as a Republican to the voters of the 28th District."

Last U.S. president to be inaugurated in March was Franklin D. Roosevelt, March 4, 1933.

ON WANTED LIST—Frederick Rudolph Yokom, reputed leader of a skilled group of jewel thieves known as the "Yokom Gang" and currently sought for fleeing interstate to avoid prosecution for robbery, has been placed on the FBI's list of "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives." A white American, Yokom was born Feb. 11, 1946. He is 5'8" to 5'9" tall, weighs 170 pounds, has a medium build, dark brown hair, brown eyes and a medium complexion. He has scars on the right side of his chin, on his wrist and abdomen. A tattoo of the name "Fred" appears on his left arm and he may wear a mustache. He should be considered armed and very dangerous. AVOID OVERCROWDING Don't expect clothes to "come clean" unless they have adequate room to jog around in the washer. For best results, avoid overcrowding the machine—and use sufficient soap or detergent.

Two Upstaters Viet Victims

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two more upstate New York servicemen have died in Vietnam, the Defense Department said Wednesday.

The Pentagon reported that Navy Gunner's Mate 3rd Class Richard M. Sprout of Lockport was killed in action.

Army Pfc. Harry D. Hamm of Utica, who previously had been listed as missing, died of non-hostile causes, the department said.

One of Napoleon's marshals, Jean Baptiste Jules Bernadotte, later became king of Sweden under the name of Charles XIV.

Moore Enters Innocent Plea

Winfield W. Moore, 31 of New Paltz, who on Christmas morning was brought down by police bullets in a shootout with state police was arraigned in county court Wednesday before Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Through his attorney Charles Saccaman, he entered a plea of innocent and the case was adjourned to Sept. 11 at 11 a.m. for motions. Bail of $2,000 was continued upon agreement with Assistant District Attorney Edward M.P. Green.

The 3½-hour siege was held at the Happy Hour Tavern on Route 32, Tillson where according to troopers Moore broke in and then called troopers inviting them to a "shootout." He had been hospitalized for two months with injuries to the leg and chest from the gunshot wounds. He was shot twice as he reportedly drew a bead on

When Moore walked out of the building shotgun in hand, troopers said he fired point blank in the direction of at least two troopers, who returned the fire and brought the man down. None of the troopers were reported hit by the shotgun pellets.

SPONGE WITH SOAP

Since imitation leather predominates in little boy and girl wardrobes, it is reassuring to know that just sponging with soap or detergent suds will remove most spots and soil from such garments.

Dairylea Plans Safety Campaign As Schools Open

For the 17th consecutive year Dairymen's League Co-operative Association, Inc. is throwing all of its public relations resources into an all-out effort to combat the ever-rising highway accident and death rate. Plans for the annual Dairylea back-to-school safety program have been completed, with the campaign covering the area served by the producers of famed Dairylea milk and dairy products. The program will consist of a massive saturation radio and newspaper advertising campaign, supplemented by millions of Dairylea milk cartons carrying the safety message right to the home, along with a public relations effort, all designed to help save children's lives.

Gerald F. Fitzgerald, advertising manager of the Dairylea Milk division, and Charles Cranston, manager of the local Dairylea branch, announced that the safety program will also cover over 45 cities in the states of New York and Pennsylvania.

In conjunction with the safety program and the return to school, Dairylea will be making a special offer of colorful, protective schoolbook covers, each imprinted with four essential safety rules, as a constant reminder to children; also space for the child's name and address.

The Dairylea safety program is also directed at motorists as well as children. Also, as has been done since the campaign's inception in 1952,

Dairylea Plans Safety Campaign As Schools Open

For the 17th consecutive year Dairymen's League Co-operative Association, Inc. is throwing all of its public relations resources into an all-out effort to combat the ever-rising highway accident and death rate. Plans for the annual Dairylea back-to-school safety program have been completed, with the campaign covering the area served by the producers of famed Dairylea milk and dairy products. The program will consist of a massive saturation radio and newspaper advertising campaign, supplemented by millions of Dairylea milk cartons carrying the safety message right to the home, along with a public relations effort, all designed to help save children's lives.

Gerald F. Fitzgerald, advertising manager of the Dairylea Milk division, and Charles Cranston, manager of the local Dairylea branch, announced that the safety program will also cover over 45 cities in the states of New York and Pennsylvania. In conjunction with the safety program and the return to school, Dairylea will be making a special offer of colorful, protective schoolbook covers, each imprinted with four essential safety rules, as a constant reminder to children; also space for the child's name and address. Psychologist Is Appointed To Caldor Executive Post

DR. HENRY A. SINGER

In a move company officials believe to be a first in the retail industry, Caldor, Inc., the discount department store chain, has appointed Dr. Henry A. Singer, an industrial psychologist with a global background, to the top executive post of director of Human Resources, Carl Bennett announced today.

Bennett said the move was the first step in a general administration development which "will greatly increase Caldor's management pool in preparation for the future rapid expansion of the company." Dr. Singer's new responsibilities include "development, recruitment, education and training of all Caldor personnel."

"The appointment of Dr. Singer was the logical next step for a company which has always emphasized the importance of people and the human side of retailing," Bennett said. "Retailing in general, and mass merchandising in particular, are changing significantly. The field continues to be shaped and defined not only by consumer needs but also by human needs."

"Caldor has always operated on the principle that personal merchandising is effective merchandising. Dr. Singer's appointment accelerates our concentration on the human side of retailing in store environment as well as in interpersonal relationships between our employees and customers and among Caldor personnel at all levels," Bennett added.

Project 13 Million Increase In State Population by 2020

A report published by the State Office of Planning and Coordination predicts that by the year 2020 there will be an estimated 13 million more persons living in New York State than there are today. The report also forecasts on a regional basis that the Mid Hudson Region, including population for the same area by the year 1990 is listed at 1,697,000 and the projected population for the year 2020 is estimated at 3,105,000. Putnam, Orange, Rockland and Westchester counties will have a population estimated at 5,704,000 by 2020. The estimated population for this region in 1965 region encompasses the counties of Greene, Columbia, Schoharie, Albany, Rensselaer, Schenectady and Saratoga.

Using the U.S. Census Bureau population figure of 16,782,000 for 1960 as a starting point, the report estimates the state's population to have been 17,794,000. This will increase by about 13 million to 31,783 by 2020, the report estimates.

Entitled "Demographic Projections for New York Counties," the report forecasts population changes in each of the state's 62 counties at five-year intervals from 1960 to 2020. In addition, population projections are broken down by sex and five-year age groups from 1 to 85.

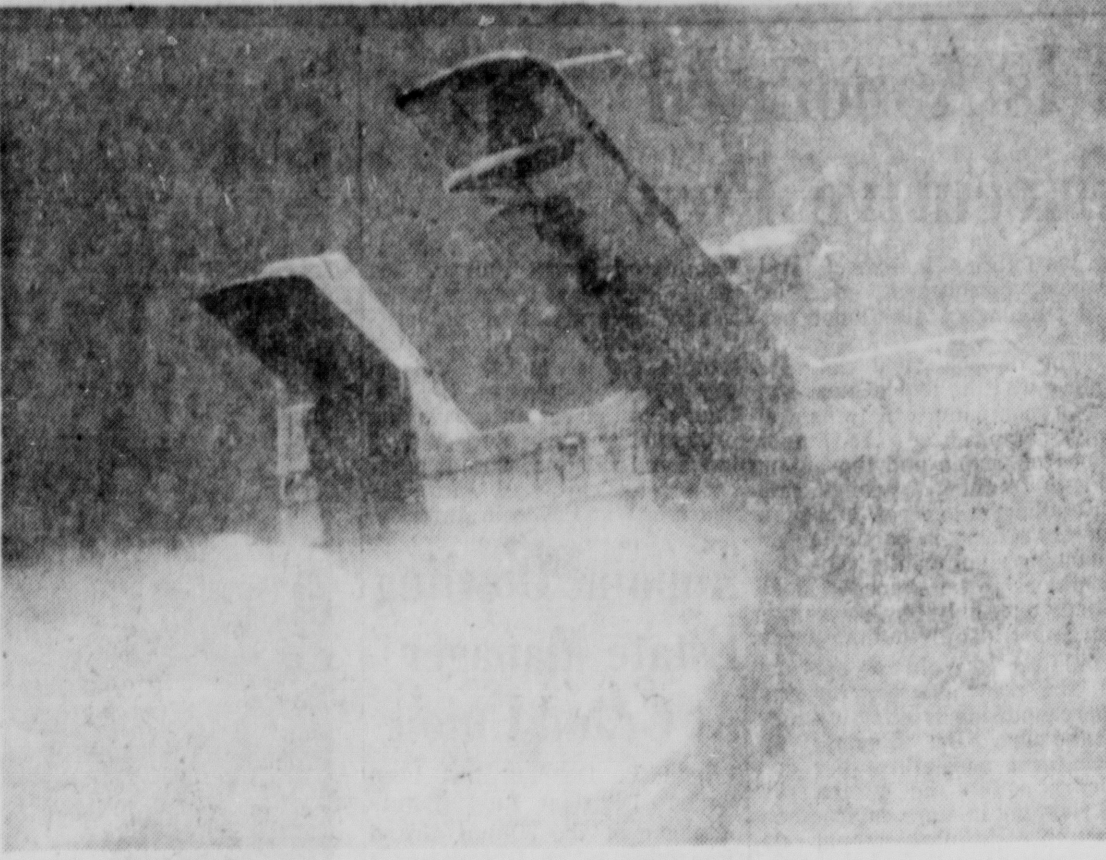

As an example, chosen at random from the report, in Orange County in 1970 it is estimated there will be 12,500 males and 11,200 females in the 15-19 year-old age group. This figure is projected to change to 15,700 males and 14,100 females in the same age group in 1975.

"The forecasts contained in the report will assist various state agencies by giving them a common set of future county-by-county population figures on which they can base their budgeting decisions and long-range planning programs," according to OPC Director Charles T. Lanigan.

"Subsequent annual population forecasts by OPC will review the current report and affirm or modify the projections as developments warrant," Lanigan says.

Lanigan points out that the report includes an important innovation in that it presents age pyramids for counties, regions and the state, which depict graphically the changing age distribution of the population from 1960 to 1985.

Using a computer to do the calculations, the projections were produced by "aging" each county's 1960 population in accordance with survival rates determined by such factors as sex, ethnic groups and place of residence. Birth rate data and estimations of county migrations were also fed into the computer and related to other factors affecting population changes.

WATER BOMBER—Skimming across water at more than 70 miles per hour, the Canadair CL-215 water bomber scoops up to 12,000 pounds of water in 12 seconds. Now undergoing water tests at Lac Simou, 80 miles from Montreal, the CL-215 will drop more than four times as much water as its nearest competitor in a typical day's operation. It is the first and only airplane designed specifically as an aerial tanker to fight forest fires. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

HOW GOOD A HOMEMAKER ARE YOU?

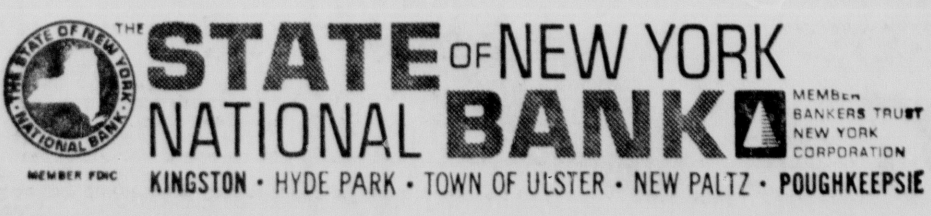

A good homemaker provides a home with a tight roof and an efficient heating plant, of course. But a better homemaker sets his home in pleasantly landscaped grounds, with a separate room for each child, a garage large enough to shelter all the family cars (plus baby carriages, snow plows, power mowers, etc.), a family room that strengthens family togetherness and, perhaps, a swimming pool.

If that is merely the home of your dreams, dream no more.

A thrifty home improvement loan (or a series of them over the years) from The State of New York National Bank can make your dreams come true.

Revenue Service Gives Advice on Tax Surcharge

Many fiscal year taxpayers will have to make a special computation when filing their income tax returns to take the recently enacted tax surcharge into account, Donald T. Hartley, Albany IRS district director for Northeastern New York State, announced today.

The new law imposing the surcharge was enacted June 28, 1968, but the effective date for the surcharge is Jan. 1, 1969, for corporations and April 1, 1969, for individuals, estates and trusts. The surcharge will apply on a prorated basis for a fiscal year which bridges the effective date of the surcharge.

Forms to compute the surcharge are now available from IRS. There is a different form for each of several classes of taxpayers—Corporations, individuals, nonresident aliens, estates and trusts.

Hartley said the new forms are for use only by fiscal year taxpayers—those whose tax year ends with a month other than December. Tax return forms for calendar year taxpayers will be revised by IRS to include the surcharge tax computation.

IRS said those taxpayers whose tax year ended before June 30, 1968, do not have to pay any surcharge before Sept. 16. Those whose tax year ends on or after that date must pay their surcharge by the regular due date.

IRS Service Center, Andover, Mass., will mail a worksheet for computing individual estimated tax, including the surcharge, with the next regular installment notice.

Rescue Squad Holds Meeting

The regular First Aid Refresher Instructional meeting of the Kerhonkson Accord First Aid Squad, under the direction of Instructor Seymour Pacht was held at the Squad building on Route 209, Aug. 26. Proper use of the Reccesator was thoroughly demonstrated and, a practice session using Plast-Aid Bandage splints followed.

Joseph Covey, aged 8½ and Jeffrey Bernstein, 7½ of Kerhonkson presented the Squad with $30, which was the receipts of their personal project to help the Kerhonkson Accord First Aid Squad.

President Wayne Kelder accepted the donation and expressed his sincere thanks to the boys for their efforts during the Annual Fund Raising Drive that is now in progress. Joseph Traficanti Jr. and James Bentivegna Jr. of Accord are co-chairmen of this drive, which is being conducted almost completely by non-members of the Squad.

Letters have been mailed to all post office box holders and rural box holders in area serviced by the Squad. House to house canvassing is also in progress.

The next regular business meeting of the Squad will be held on Sept. 9, at 8 p.m. at the squad building on Route 209.

Color Photography Exhibition Now at Lake Mohonk, New Paltz

Lonely Monhegan Island, 12 miles off the rocky coast of Maine, is the setting for an artistic and thought-provoking collection of color prints presently on exhibition at Lake Mohonk Mountain House, New Paltz. All are the work of Ruth Lewis of New York City who calls this collection "The Sea and the Shore."

Miss Lewis is well known in the New Paltz-Hudson Valley areas both for her many exhibitions of interpretative photography, in color, and as winner of the Grand Prize for winter landscapes in a competition held at Lake Mohonk Mountain House in 1961.

The Museum of Modern Art, New York City, selected a color print entitled "Rocks" for their permanent collection. The Cambridge Art Association, The Fashion Institute of Technology, New York and Lever House are only three of the many institutions who have invited Miss Lewis to exhibit.

The present exhibition will be on display until Sept. 3 and is free to guests visiting the Mountain House for a meal and to registered guests.

Miss Lewis has divided her collection into five sections: Ocean Moods, Tidepools, Rust Patterns, On the Shore and a series of small subjects, among them Sunset Surf, The Wreck and Seaweed. The On the Shore group includes a whimsical subject called Starfish Ballet. Rough Water and Fog and Seaweed and Blue Water are studies in muted light and ex-citing three-dimensional color, moment.

These are in the Ocean Mood group. "In nature all things retain the essence of their origin," Miss Lewis commented, "this reality. At some point everything reveals its past origin and its present condition. My search has been to find that revelatory citing three-dimensional color, moment."

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

One day I rolled out my cookie dough, took a spatula and cut lines across it. I made diamonds, rectangles, squares or what ever came out and the edges looked rather lacy. I baked just as they were.

It is surprising how much fun this turned out to be because the kids played guessing games as to which U. S. state the cookies resembled.

Now it is a hard and fast rule that we make "state" cookies instead of the usual round ones.

Katherine H. Sturtevant

Dear Heloise:

By using clear adhesive-backed plastic, my family preserves everything from four-leaf clovers to swimming pool passes.

It is especially good for making darling Christmas cards, pressed flowers, or children's drawings.

Mrs. M. Mathews

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

You know the old saying — "Want it done faster? Ask a lazy man."

I think it should be changed to—"Want it done faster, easier and better? Ask a bachelor."

Harold Tucker

Dear Heloise:

Those who have a problem when they are cleaning hard-to-get-to places might be helped by the idea I use when cleaning out my floor furnace, under the piano, sofa, etc.

I purchased a long, plastic tube the golfers use in golf bags. (about 30 cents) attached it to the end of the vacuum cleaner hose and does it work!

The plastic flattens out and will get into those tight squeezes that the metal tube won't. Now I don't chip the paint like I sometimes used to do.

Lauriel E. Wolfe

You are right, Lauriel. The plastic golf tube is better and will last longer than the cardboard tube that was mentioned awhile back.

Dear Heloise:

My sister uses her old metal wheelbarrow as a barbecue pit! She builds her fire in it and puts an old stainless steel grate from a stove over the top. Presto—a fine place to cook and when it gets too sunny or windy one place, she wheels it to a better location.

Smarty's Sister

Book No. 3—Quilts for Today's Living. New, exciting collection—15 complete patterns, 50 cents.

Book of Prize Afghans—Knit, croch 12 afghans, 50 cents.

That's a cute idea. And if you don't have an old grate from a stove, any iron grate will do.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

A child's toy potato masher makes the yolks just right for deviled eggs; is wonderful to mix peanut butter and jelly, fine for creaming butter and sugar, and cutting shortening into flour.

Mother of Four

Dear Heloise:

I think that idea about a toothpick under the pan lid to let steam out of a pot is terrific.

although I really had to take the teasing when my husband found one in his beef stew.

Nonetheless for all his kidding, I really thought he had a bright idea when . . . he placed one crosswise under the top of the teakettle to stop it from continually whistling when one wishes to keep it at the boil for adding to beans, or for use later.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:
One day I rolled out my cookie dough, took a spatula and cut lines across it. I made diamonds, rectangles, squares or what ever came out and the edges looked rather lacy. I baked just as they were.

It is surprising how much fun this turned out to be because the kids played guessing games as to which U. S. state the cookies resembled.

Now it is a hard and fast rule that we make "state" cookies instead of the usual round ones. Isn't it funny how interesting things can be—if only by accident?

Katherine H. Sturtevant

Dear Heloise:
By using clear adhesive-backed plastic, my family preserves everything from four-leaf clovers to swimming pool passes.

It is especially good for making darling placecards with an inner layer of Christmas cards, pressed flowers, or children's drawings.

Mrs. M. Mathews

Dear Heloise:
That's a cute idea. And if you don't have an old grate from a stove, any iron grate will do.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:
A child's toy potato masher makes the yolks just right for deviled eggs; is wonderful to mix peanut butter and jelly, fine for creaming butter and sugar, and cutting shortening into flour.

Mother of Four

Dear Heloise:
I think that idea about a toothpick under the pan lid to let steam out of a pot is terrific although I really had to take the teasing when my husband found one in his beef stew.

Nonetheless for all his kidding, I really thought he had a bright idea when . . . he placed one crosswise under the top of the teakettle to stop it from continually whistling when one wishes to keep it at the boil for adding to beans, or for use later.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:
You know the old saying — "Want it done faster? Ask a lazy man."

I think it should be changed to—"Want it done faster, easier and better? Ask a bachelor."

Harold Tucker

Dear Heloise:
Those who have a problem when they are cleaning hard-to-get-to places might be helped by the idea I use when cleaning out my floor furnace, under the piano, sofa, etc.

I purchased a long, plastic tube the golfers use in golf bags, (about 30 cents) attached it to the end of the vacuum cleaner hose and does it work!

The plastic flattens out and will get into those tight squeezes that the metal tube won't. Now I don't chip the paint like I sometimes used to do.

Lauriel E. Wolfe

You are right, Lauriel. The plastic golf tube is better and will last longer than the cardboard tube that was mentioned awhile back.

Dear Heloise:
My sister uses their old metal wheelbarrow as a barbecue pit! She builds her fire in it and puts an old stainless steel grate from a stove over the top. Presto—a fine place to cook and when it gets too sunny or windy one place, she wheels it to a better location.

Cards Coast as Gibson Wins Ahead of Schedule

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

Bob Gibson pitches for the St. Louis Cardinals -- when it doesn't interfere with his other activities.

The rollicking Cardinals, coasting to their second straight National League pennant, can ignore the old maxim that baseball is supposed to take precedence over all else for players during the season.

So, it was no problem that Gibson was due to pitch tonight for the Cardinals in Pittsburgh -- even though he wanted to fly to New York ahead of the team because a book written about him is to be unveiled.

Manager Red Schoendienst simply moved Gibson's pitching turn up a game to Wednesday night. He pitched with three days rest instead of four and no one knew the difference as he whipped the Pirates 8-0 on a four-hitter for his 11th shutout and 19th victory.

victory streak snapped by the Pirates last Saturday, easily dominated the Pirates this time even though he was pitching with less rest than usual.

Prefers Rest

"I prefer to have the extra day of rest because it makes me faster," Gibson said. "I actually thought I was faster last Saturday when the Pirates beat me than I was tonight." The Pirates couldn't tell, though, as Gibson struck out 14 and walked only three.

Elsewhere in the National League, San Francisco nipped Houston 4-3, Cincinnati swept a doubleheader from New York 8-3 and 5-2, Atlanta swept a doubleheader from Philadelphia 9-2 and Chicago beat Los Angeles 7-4 but lost the second game 8-4.

The Cards wrapped up the game with five runs in the fourth inning off Bob Veale, 10-13. Orlando Cepeda hit his 14th homer of the year, a three-run shot, and Gibson drove in the other two runs of the inning with a single.

Cepeda looked like the Cepeda of a year ago as he had two hits, drove in four runs and scored twice.

Untimely Walk

John Buzhardt walked Bobby Bonds on a 3-2 pitch with two out and the bases loaded in the ninth inning to force in the winning run and hands the Giants the victory over the Astros. Buzhardt had loaded the bases by walking Ty Cline with two on and one out but got Bob Schroder to hit into a force at the plate before walking Bonds to end it.

Winning pitcher Gary Nolan double in two runs to cap a three-run fifth inning as the Reds beat the Mets to complete a doubleheader sweep. In the opener, Tommy Helms and Don Pavletich each collected three hits to pace a 15-hit attack as the Reds handed Jerry Koosman his ninth loss against 16 wins.

Deron Johnson singled home the deciding run in the eighth inning and Pat Jarvis pitched a three-hitter as the Braves topped the Phils in the second game to complete their doubleheader sweep. George Stone pitched a six-hitter and drove in two runs with a pair of singles in the opening game victory. Woody Fryman, 11-13, took the loss in the opener.

Six-run innings were the difference as the Cubs and Dodgers split a doubleheader. The Cubs scored six runs in the first inning of the opener off Bill Singer and coasted to the victory. Rich Nye went six innings for the Cubs to gain the victory. In the second game, the Dodgers scored six runs in the eighth inning to beat reliever Phil Regan. Ken Boyer's bases-loaded double was the key blow in that rally.

McLain Ends Slump To Register 26th Win

By GREG GALLO
UPI Sports Writer

Dennis The Menace McLain is up to old tricks again. The Detroit Tiger righthander, fighting off a painfully sore shoulder, snapped his own two-game losing streak Wednesday night with a six-hit, 6-1 triumph over the California Angels. Bothered by a strained muscle in his pitching arm for more than two weeks, McLain had suffered two successive setbacks and it seemed his 30-game season was in jeopardy. After notching his 25th victory on August 17 against Boston, McLain was bombed by the White Sox after getting only two days rest. He then dropped a 2-1 decision to New York on August 24.

McLain, who has already labored through 277 innings, the highest total among all American League pitchers, is struggling to become the first 30-game winner since Dizzy Dean reached that plateau in 1934.

Elsewhere in the American League, Washington nipped Baltimore 2-1, Cleveland edged Minnesota 3-2, Oakland downed Boston 5-3, and Chicago blanked New York 3-0.

Homers Help

McLain, who got home run support from Bill Freehan and Jim Northrup, became the first American League pitcher since 1946 to win 26 games. The last to accomplish the feat were Bob Feller and Hal Newhouser, both in 1946.

He struck out 11 and walked two and was in command all the way. Don Mincher spoiled his shutout bid with a leadoff homer in the fourth inning, his 13th of the season.

The Tigers, who had lost four of their last five games, got to Angel starter George Burgeimer in the second innings. Willie Horton singled and Freehan clubbed his 20th homer of the year off the facade of the second deck in left field to give McLain all the support he needed. Northrup slammed his 17th homer of the season in the eighth to seal the victory for the Tiger ace.

Saugerties Champions Reach Playoff Finals

SAUGERTIES—Pennant winning Glasco Athletic Club took their first step toward a sweep of league honors, downing Ferroxcube, 3-1.

The Caves Go Riding

LOMONTVILLE — Three members of the James Cave horse show family, will go riding for laurels in the New York State Fair 4-H horse show competition Aug. 30-Sept. 2 at Syracuse.

Oldest of the trio in the family which is well known in area equestrian circles is Janine Cave (15) who will ride her outstanding mount, Winona's Pride. They have combined for several blue ribbons.

Jim Cave Jr. (13) will be on Fiddlesticks and Vanessa, who at 9 may be the youngest competitor in the entire state fair show, will ride her pony, Doc. The trio are leaders of the English team division and will represent Ulster County.

All are competing in Costume and Hunter classes which are judged on the horse

(or pony) and his suitability as mount when riding to the hounds or fox-hunting, and in Horsemanship over fences.

Janine and Jim were the first and second choices to represent Ulster County 4-H in English Horse and Horsemanship Division. Vanessa was first choice in the English Pony Division.

This is Vanessa's first year of competition at open horse shows and will be her first year at State.

The award winning trio is coached by Mrs. Peggy Mickelson.

Bonallack of Britain Bids for 'Little Sweep'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—British Amateur Champion Mike Bonallack, bidding for a rare "little slam" and getting help from an unexpected birdie putt, fired a one-over-par 71 Wednesday to share the first round lead of the 1968 U.S. Amateur Golf Championship with Floridian Jack Veghte and Allen Miller.

No one could break or match par over the exacting Scioto Country Club course, which stretches 6,762 yards and plays to a 35-35-70 par, and the three leaders' 71s were good for a one-stroke edge over Lev Oehmig of Chattanooga, Tenn.

Dick Siderowf of Westport, Conn., Hubert Green of Birmingham, Ala., James Conace of Worthington, Ohio, and 49-year-old Dale Morey of High Point, N.C., who highlighted the day with a hole-in-one on the 195-yard, par-3, 17th hole.

Morey used a three-iron in collecting his seventh ace but this was his first one in a major tournament.

Chiefs Bounce Toledo From Inter League Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

After 45 days in first place in the International League race, the Toledo Mud Hens find themselves in the role of pursuer instead of pursued.

The Mud Hens were bounced out of the league lead Wednesday night for the first time since July 13. They dropped a doubleheader to the Syracuse Chiefs, 4-0 and 4-1, while the Columbus Jets were beating the last-place Richmond Braves 5-1 in 13 innings.

The Jets' fourth triumph in the five-game series at Richmond pushed them half a game ahead of the Mud Hens with the Rochester Red Wings—5-3 losers to the Buffalo Bisons—still in contention just two games back. The Louisville at Jacksonville encounter was rained out.

Three Syracuse pitchers limited Toledo to seven hits. Al Closter pitched a two-hitter in the first game, and Rich Beck—who was seized with a cardiac attack said not to be serious—and Bob Lasko combined for a five-hitter in the second game.

Rookie John Ellis had six hits for Syracuse, including four in a row in the second game.

Columbus assaulted Richmond relief pitcher Ted Davidson for six singles—five in a row with one out—for four runs in the top of the 13th inning. The two teams had traded home runs earlier—George Spriggs sixth for the Jets in the eighth and Dave Nicholson's 30th for Richmond in the ninth.

Cards Coast as Gibson Wins Ahead of Schedule

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

Bob Gibson pitches for the St. Louis Cardinals — when it doesn't interfere with his other activities.

The rollicking Cardinals, coasting to their second straight National League pennant, can ignore the old maxim that baseball is supposed to take precedence over all else for players during the season.

So, it was no problem that Gibson was due to pitch tonight for the Cardinals in Pittsburgh — even though he wanted to fly to New York ahead of the team because a book written about him is to be unveiled.

Manager Red Schoendienst simply moved Gibson's pitching turn up a game to Wednesday night. He pitched with three days rest instead of four and no one knew the difference as he whipped the Pirates 8-0 on a four-hitter for his 11th shutout and 19th victory.

Gibson, who had his 15-game

victory streak snapped by the Pirates last Saturday, easily dominated the Pirates this time even though he was pitching with less rest than usual.

Prefers Rest

"I prefer to have the extra day of rest because it makes me faster," Gibson said. "I actually thought I was faster last Saturday when the Pirates beat me than I was tonight." The Pirates couldn't tell, though, as Gibson struck out 14 and walked only three.

Elsewhere in the National League, San Francisco nipped Houston 4-3. Cincinnati swept a doubleheader from New York 8-3 and 5-2. Atlanta swept a doubleheader from Philadelphia 9-2 and Chicago beat Los Angeles 7-4 but lost the second game 8-4.

The Cards wrapped up the game with five runs in the fourth inning off Bob Veale, 10-13. Orlando Cepeda hit his 14th homer of the year, a three-run shot, and Gibson drove in the other two runs of the inning with a single. Cepeda looked like the Cepeda of a year ago as he had two hits, drove in four runs and scored twice.

Untimely Walk

John Buzhardt walked Bobby Bonds on a 3-2 pitch with two out and the bases loaded in the ninth inning to force in the winning run and hands the Giants the victory over the Astros. Buzhardt had loaded the bases by walking Ty Cline with two on and one out but got Bob Schroder to hit into a force at the plate before walking Bonds to end it.

Winning pitcher Gary Nolan double in two runs to cap a three-run fifth inning as the Reds beat the Mets to complete a doubleheader sweep. In the opener, Tommy Helms and Don Pavletich each collected three hits to pace a 15-hit attack as the Reds handed Jerry Koosman his ninth loss against 16 wins.

Deron Johnson singled home the deciding run in the eighth inning and Pat Jarvis pitched a three-hitter as the Braves topped the Phils in the second game to complete their doubleheader sweep. George Stone pitched a six-hitter and drove in two runs with a pair of singles in the opening game victory. Woody Fryman, 11-13, took the loss in the opener.

Six-run innings were the difference as the Cubs and Dodgers split a doubleheader. The Cubs scored six runs in the first inning of the opener off Bill Singer and coasted to the victory. Rich Nye went six innings for the Cubs to gain the victory. In the second game, the Dodgers scored six runs in the eighth inning to beat reliever Phil Regan. Ken Boyer's bases-loaded double was the key blow in that rally.

The Caves Go Riding

LOMONTVILLE — Three members of the James Cave horse show family, will go riding for laurels in the New York State Fair 4-H horse show competition Aug. 30-Sept. 2 at Syracuse.

Oldest of the trio in the family which is well known in area equestrian circles is Janine Cave (15) who will ride her outstanding mount, Winona's Pride. They have combined for several blue ribbons.

Jim Cave Jr. (13) will be on Fiddlesticks and Vanessa, who at 9 may be the youngest competitor in the entire state fair show, will ride her pony, Doc. The trio are leaders of the English team division and will represent Ulster County.

All are competing in Costume and Hunter classes which are judged on the horse

(or pony) and his suitability as mount when riding to the hounds or fox-hunting, and in Horsemanship over fences.

Janine and Jim were the first and second choices to represent Ulster County 4-H in English Horse and Horsemanship Division. Vanessa was first choice in the English Pony Division.

This is Vanessa's first year of competition at open horse shows and will be her first year at State.

The award winning trio is coached by Mrs. Peggy Mickelson.

Bonallack of Britain Bids for 'Little Sweep'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — British Amateur Champion Mike Bonallack, bidding for a rare "little slam" and getting help from an unexpected birdie putt, fired a one-over-par 71 Wednesday to share the first round lead of the 1968 U.S. Amateur Golf Championship with Floridian Jack Veghte and Allen Miller.

No one could break or match par over the exacting Scioto Country Club course, which stretches 6,762 yards and plays to a 35-35-70 par, and the three leaders' 71s were good for a one-stroke edge over Lew Oehmig of Chattanooga, Tenn., Dick Siderowf of Westport, Conn., Hubert Green of Birmingham, Ala., James Conace of Worthington, Ohio, and 49-year-old Dale Morey of High Point, N.C., who highlighted the day with a hole-in-one on the 195-yard, par-3, 17th hole.

Morey used a three-iron in collecting his seventh ace but this was his first one in a major tournament.

"Boom—right in the hole it went," he recalls gleefully. A dozen others, including Rik Massengale of Jacksonboro, Tex., the new Western Amateur king, and Walker Cupper Don Allen of Rochester, N.Y., were another shot back at three-over-par 73s, just two strokes off the pace.

Lions Claw Merchants In 'Kingston' Game, 7-1

Kingston Lions, 7-1 winners over the Kingston Merchants Wednesday night, can move a step closer to the 1968 City Baseball League pennant to night when they play second place Donnie Vans at 8:20 at Dietz Stadium.

The Lions bagged their sixth victory in eight decisions behind the combined three-hit pitching of Charlie Moore and Frank McGowan, with Moore getting credit for the win.

The Lions have remaining dates with Rosendale Merchants (2) and two with Donnie Vans, counting tonight's clash.

Lions needed only two hits—singles by Greg Rios and Mike Weishaupf—for three runs in the first off starter Joel Thomson. Ron Valle was safe on an error. Pete Watzka was hit by a pitched ball and there was another miscue.

Three walks and a wild pitch scored Mike Derrenbacher with Lion's third run in the third. Derrenbacher scored again in the fourth on a single, two steals and a wild throw.

The Lions two runs in the fifth were untainted, the result of singles by Gary Schatzel and Derrenbacher and Moore's double.

Kingston averted a shutout with their lone run in the third on a walk to Mike Hawkins, who eventually scored on a fielder's choice.

While some sportsmen are biding their time between a lull in the fishing season and looking forward to the cool days of autumn and hunting, it may be well to take inventory for the coming season.

First and most important come Oct. 1 is the bare necessity — a new license. If you are applying for your first hunting license, you must show proof of passing a course in gun handling and safety. This is a must and no licenses are issued without this information.

Also, how about your trusty shotgun or rifle you stored away carelessly when you finished last season? A good cleaning and oiling and making adjustments are a fine way to spend an evening on the table the lady of the house takes so much pride in.

Better make sure those britches are patched and those socks darned. And those boots you kicked in the closet might still have some wear left in them.

Above all, how about "old faithful"—that hunting dog that has put in a miserable summer being chained or let run on his own. We hope you don't forget the old boy, either a pointer or a hound. He too, eats and drinks water all year, not just during hunting season. We're sorry to report we know of some that were sadly neglected, without even a cheerful word since you last took him afield. A dog should be "a man's best friend" 12 months a year.

AFTER VIEWING with interest the exhibit of the Northern Dutchess Rod and Gun Club at the Dutchess County Fair last weekend, we feel that the Ulster County federation may take a tip and do something similar at our own county fair.

A non-profit venture such as this acquaints many folks with different animals afield and shows the young folks the value of conservation. It is more than possible that the Catskill Game Farm would be only too glad to furnish the game and such a promotion can only help the efforts of the 40-plus clubs in the Federation. How about it, boys? Do we have a volunteer to move the affair?

If you want a bear rug for your TV room or den, you can get an early start this year. Black bear will face the hunters from Oct. 1 through Oct. 15 in nine Adirondack counties, it has been announced by the Conservation Department.

All of Clinton, Essex, Franklin, Hamilton, Lewis, St. Lawrence and Warren will be open, as well as northern portions of Herkimer and Oneida.

Applications will be accepted postmarked no earlier than Sept. 1 and no later than Oct. 7. Send your name, address, big game license number and, as expected, a crisp, one buck fee, to New York State Conservation Department, Special Bear Permit, Albany, N. Y. 12226.

A footnote to the above from two of the finest Adirondack guides we happen to know:

Abner Hall: "An early season will do one thing, give some hunters a good shot at a before-season deer."

Richard (Bun) Arndt: "Good, but where does the Department come off with another buck fee?"

A FEW SHORT TAKES:

Big (Dap) Cole, Little Mike Spada leave Sept. 5 for the wilds of Canada and some moose and caribou hunting. Looks like the boys in Spada's Sport Shop will need waders when they get back and hear all those honest to goodness parok barrel stories.

Bud Stewart and his son, Dave, and our own Bob Saehloff took a nice boat ride on Indian Lake last Wednesday in search of bass. Too much wind and the fact that the fish were on holiday made for a rough trip and one, small fish. Dave is on his way to Panama to do some work for Uncle Sam and plenty of time for hunting and fishing.

OLD RIP SEZ: Looks from here that some politicians may find there are more sportsmen then they counted on Election Day.

Raceway Event To Vicki Knight

MONTICELLO — Jimmy Wingfield kept Vicki Knight second to Sunrise Haze the entire race, then staged a strong finishing kick to pass him and take last night's featured $1,200 pace at Monticello Raceway.

Leaving from Post Two, Vicki Knight just nosed out Judy Chief G. (4-Don Gillis) and Gingerbread (1-Jim Grundy) by a head to win in 2:09 flat.

Sunrise Haze, Don Garbarino up, cut out the mile until the stretch, where midway in the chase for the wire, Vicki Knight swept by him, as did the others, and went on to post her fourth victory in 11 starts this year.

Vicki Knight, a brown, two-year-old filly by Torpid out of Miss Vicki Scott by Forbes Chief followed Sunrise Haze to a .322 first quarter and a 1:05.4 half. She still sat second in a 1:37.4 three-quarters, the move outside in the final turn and romped home triumphant.

Owned by John A. Howe of Troy, Vicki Knight returned mutuels of $4.80, 3.20 and 3.20 as the 7-5 favorite. Judy Chief G. was worth $4.40 and 3.60 for place while Gingerbread's show ticket paid $3.80. Romeo Lobell, second choice, was last.

Darling Mir and Schoodie hooked up for a 5-4 daily double worth $101.20.

Boo's Move Into Playoff Finals

SAUGERTIES—Boo's Tavern moved into the Met Division finals, edging A. J. Scarselli's, 9-8, with an early game surge in the Met division of the Saugerties Softball League.

Boo's misuses staked Scarselli's to their first six runs but their own rallies in the first, second and third innings gave them a 9-6 lead.

Scarselli's stormed back on Fred Francello's double, Joe Palumbo's single, an infield error and Joe Gambino's double. That narrowed the lead to one run and put runners on second and third with only one out.

Barney Hoyt was equal to the occasion, however, bearing down to retire the side without further damage on an infield popup and a tap to the box.

Boo's, who finished second to Ted's in the regular season, now face the champions in a best of three series for the playoff title. Games will be played Tuesday, Thursday and, if necessary, on a date to be agreed upon.

Volvos last an average of 11 years in Sweden.

They average about a day and a half in our showroom.

Exactly how long a Volvo will last in America, we don't guarantee. But we do know that over 95% of all the Volvos registered here in the last 11 years are still on the road. We also know that whenever we get Volvos in stock, they don't stay there very long. Which brings up an interesting paradox about Volvos. Our customers like to buy them because they last. We like to sell them because they don't.

While some sportsmen are biding their time between a lull in the fishing season and looking forward to the cool days of autumn and hunting, it may be well to take inventory for the coming season.

First and most important come Oct. 1 is the bare necessity — a new license. If you are applying for your first hunting license, you must show proof of passing a course in gun handling and safety. This is a must and no licenses are issued without this information.

Also, how about your trusty shotgun or rifle you stored away carelessly when you finished last season? A good cleaning and oiling and making adjustments are a fine way to spend an evening on the table the lady of the house takes so much pride in.

Better make sure those britches are patched and those socks darned. And those boots you kicked in the closet might still have some wear left in them.

Above all, how about "old faithful"—that hunting dog that has put in a miserable summer being chained or let run on his own. We hope you don't forget the old boy, either a pointer or a hound. He too, eats and drinks water all year, not just during hunting season. We're sorry to report we know of some that were sadly neglected, without even a cheerful word since you last took him ashed. A dog should be "a man's best friend" 12 months a year.

AFTER VIEWING with interest the exhibit of the Northern Dutchess Rod and Gun Club at the Dutchess County Fair last weekend, we feel that the Ulster County federation may take a tip and do something similar at our own county fair.

A non-profit venture such as this acquaints many folks with different animals afield and shows the young folks the value of conservation. It is more than possible that the Catskill Game Farm would be only too glad to furnish the game and such a promotion can only help the efforts of the 40-plus clubs in the Federation. How about it, boys? Do we have a volunteer to move the affair?

If you want a bear rug for your TV room or den, you can get an early start this year. Black bear will face the hunters from Oct. 1 through Oct. 15 in nine Adirondack counties, it has been announced by the Conservation Department.

All of Clinton, Essex, Franklin, Hamilton, Lewis, St. Lawrence and Warren will be open, as well as northern portions of Herkimer and Oneida.

Applications will be accepted postmarked no earlier than Sept. 1 and no later than Oct. 7. Send your name, address, big game license number and, as expected, a crisp, one buck fee, to New York State Conservation Department, Special Bear Permit, Albany, N. Y. 12226.

A footnote to the above from two of the finest Adirondack guides we happen to know:

Abner Hall: "An early season will do one thing, give some hunters a good shot at a before-season deer."

A FEW SHORT TAKES:

Big (Dap) Cole, Little Mike Spada leave Sept. 5 for the wilds of Canada and some moose and caribou hunting. Looks like the boys in Spada's Sport Shop will need waders when they get back and hear all those honest to goodness parok barrel stories.

Bud Stewart and his son, Dave, and our own Bob Saehloff took a nice boat ride on Indian Lake last Wednesday in search of bass. Too much wind and the fact that the fish were on holiday made for a rough trip and one, small fish. Dave is on his way to Panama to do some work for Uncle Sam and plenty of time for hunting and fishing.

OLD RIP SEZ: Looks from here that some politicians may find there are more sportsmen then they counted on Election Day.

Raceway Event To Vicki Knight

MONTICELLO — Jimmy Wingfield kept Vicki Knight second to Sunrise Haze the entire race, then staged a strong finishing kick to pass him and take last night's featured $1,200 pace at Monticello Raceway.

Leaving from Post Two, Vicki Knight just nosed out Judy Chief G. (4-Don Gillis) and Gingerbread (1-Jim Grundy) by a head to win in 2:09 flat.

Sunrise Haze, Don Garbarino up, cut out the mile until the stretch, where Vicki Knight swept by him, as did the others, and went on to post her fourth victory in 11 starts this year.

Vicki Knight, a brown, two-year-old filly by Torpid out of Miss Vicki Scott by Forbes Chief followed Sunrise Haze to a .322 first quarter and a 1:05.4 half. She still sat second in a 1:37.4 three-quarters, the move outside in the final turn and romped home triumphant.

Owned by John A. Howe of Troy, Vicki Knight returned mutuels of $4.80, 3.20 and 3.20 as the 7-5 favorite. Judy Chief G. was worth $4.40 and 3.60 for place while Gingerbread's show ticket paid $3.80. Romeo Lobell, second choice, was last.

Darling Mir and Schoodic hooked up for a 5-4 daily double worth $101.20.

Volvos last an average of 11 years in Sweden.

They average about a day and a half in our showroom.

Exactly how long a Volvo will last in America, we don't guarantee. But we do know that over 95% of all the Volvos registered here in the last 11 years are still on the road. We also know that whenever we get Volvos in stock, they don't stay there very long. Which brings up an interesting paradox about Volvos. Our customers like to buy them because they last. We like to sell them because they don't.

'Blood Bath' in the Theatre

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

A sustained barrage on the senses. A bruising, disturbing assault on the ear. A hypnotizing influence on the eye. A bucket of ice cold water unexpectedly dumped over the playgoer's head. An anesthetist's needle plunged into the emotional veins. Tough on the nerves, hard on the psyche, a theatrical blood bath.

That's THE PERSECUTION AND ASSASSINATION OF MARAT AS PERFORMED BY THE INMATES OF THE ASYLUM OF CHARENTON UNDER THE DIRECTION OF THE MARQUIS DE SADE. This play of lengthy title with music opened for a week's run at the Woodstock Playhouse last night and as authored by Peter Weiss (who gained fame with "The Investigation"), it may scare the heart and liver out of more than a few in the audience.

Actually, its on-and-on-and-on title explains almost all that one needs to know. It tells that this is a play within a play—a drama of the historical incident in which the French revolutionary leader Marat was slain by the dagger-wielding Charlotte Corday in his bath. And, actually, too, the real life and enlightened keeper of the Charenton asylum in those earlier French days did believe in the therapeutic value of having his mentally anguished inmates act out plays. It is a matter of historical record that the infamous Marquis de Sade, who was incarcerated inside Charenton for several years, wrote some scripts for the plays performed there.

Woodstock Playhouse audiences should be ready for the first shock of the evening as soon as the actors portraying the insane inmates stumble and jitter onstage. The horrors of mental illness are all there: Vacantly staring eyes, body tics, loosely opened mouths, heads that loll like flowers stripped from their stalks by high winds. It is a credit to Playhouse director Harold Baldridge that in his play within a play, he has been a director within a director by being the asylum keeper, onstage and off.

MARAT/SADE is probably the most ambitious stage undertaking we have seen the local Playhouse attempt in more than a decade of theatre-going there... and credit must be given to the superb discipline of the cast and the cool but fierce directing of Baldridge. There are times when the action on stage comes through more like a controlled experiment to make the audience writhe and sweat than a theatrical experience to entertain or awe or upset.

Among the weapons used to get through to the audiences is the background music. It insinuates itself into the ear and the brain with the same sort of emotional pull that comes from hearing a lonely wail at midnight from an unknown source... Sometimes the music is solitary and sometimes it is menacing. Combined with the eerie moans and whimpers of actors playing madmen, the music helps take the audience into the limbo of the lost.

A Kind of Laughter
In the midst of all this, there is a kind of laughter and, responsible for it, is a clownishly decked-out Greek chorus of one former lady of the evening and three king's fool types. At the Woodstock Playhouse, this ensemble is a singing quartet composed of Marion Brash, Trent Knepper, Nico Boccio and Eugene Blythe, assisted by a herald played by a key by R. Mack Miller. They do much to inject whatever strange humor there is into the plot by breaking into gritty songs and cynical ditties on the Revolutionary age's corruption and evils.

Author Weiss has superbly caught the frenetic interruptions, emendations, and eruptive self-concerns of asylum inmates and this in itself forms a play within the play. One startling scene after another unfolds to shake up the audience. An innocent-looking flop, (unbelievably good performance by Gene Nye), playing an innocent love scene with Charlotte Corday (portrayed to perfection at the Playhouse by Margaret Cathell), suddenly and unexpectedly tries to rape her. A single tipsy file of the insane marches to the make-believe guillotine, and their heads drop in deadly percussive succession like hard taps on a table by a wooden spoon. Murderess Corday displays erotic cruelty in a hair-lashing scene involving a kneeling and stripped-to-the-waist de Sade (played with imagination by actor Edward Holmes). MARAT/SADE is an exciting play, and it is more exciting when it is insane than when it is sane. It is also a disturbing play which literally forces a reaction from the audience. Author Weiss uses his lunatics as tools to make the audience ponder deeply on the basic nature of mankind and his history.

Sadness and Pity
We found ourselves saddened by what we know is the violence of man, because it is now impossible to deny that violence has been a part of living since time immemorial and that it still exists today. But we also found ourselves filled with pity and silently urging the "inmates" to play their "parts" skillfully and well despite their crippling handicaps.

Although MARAT/SADE is offered as period drama, much of it is so close to today that it is almost terrifying. Marat and deSade are not so much leader and celebrity as they are Vietnam or Czechoslovak debaters who agree to disagree across the fence erected between conservative and liberal. Sade argues that man's nature is the chain he cannot break, that revolution is futile, that all man's work, great and small, sink unmoored into a sea of vast indifference. Marat would have it that social injustice demands action (he must have been to the French Revolution what Martin Luther King was to the civil rights movement), and that man will always answer the challenge to change nature.

If it has all been said before, Weiss says it again and says it well in the repeating as he offers his own view of revolution.

This is a play that mixes tragedy with sensation, theatre with intellectual inquiry. As Marat, Sade, and Charlotte Corday, Dan Weaver, Edward Holmes and Margaret Cathell walk off with the evening's honors. Their melancholy performances nail the play together with dramatic authority. And if Marat's blood bath in his tub reminds some of society's coffin, there is a sort of black comedy ever present that is a kind of laughter we feel we cannot allow to erupt. See for yourself at the Woodstock Playhouse through Sept. 2.

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

Dear Abby

Trying to Pass the Buck?

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1968 by Chicago Tribune
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: We have always owned our own home and have recently started renting, and we have a question to ask. In a rented house, who is supposed to pay for putting up and taking down the screens and storm windows? The owner of the tenant?

RENTING: Unless it is specifically stated in the contract, the tenant usually assumes that responsibility. (If he doesn't he is probably trying to pass the buck—or save one.)

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 20 years old. She had a mental breakdown 6 months ago and spent 12 weeks in a hospital.

She's home now. She's not working, but she dates regularly as she is a very pretty girl. We have not met any of the fellows she has gone out with as she meets them somewhere else. Last night she stayed out all night and we were worried sick.

Our daughter is still in therapy, so I called her psychiatrist asking if we could lay down two rules of dating.

(1) Her dates MUST pick her up at home so we can at least meet them.

(2) No more staying out all night.

The psychiatrist said, NO. If we were to impose such rules on her she might do something to harm herself. My husband agrees with the psychiatrist. I do not. Where do you stand?

MOTHER: I stand with you (and so do three competent psychiatrists with whom I have consulted about your problem). Unless your daughter's psychiatrist has more information about your daughter than you have and reasonably certain that you have no cause to worry, she may already be doing something to "harm" herself.

As long as your daughter is under 21, and living at home, you should abide by the rules you set. Yours are certainly not unreasonable.

DEAR ABBY: Here is one for the books. We have wealthy relatives living in a distant city. We rarely see them, but at Christmas time we do exchange greeting cards.

Last Christmas we discovered they used second-hand Christmas cards! Their name and address sticker was used to cover up the other signature. We couldn't believe what we were seeing, as they are in the millionaire class. As for ourselves, we are just moderately fixed.

Now the important question: What would you have done? Called their attention to this second-hand Christmas card and questioned their reason for such a cheap act? Or would you have said a prayer for them and wiped them off your slate?

PERPLEXED: Neither. I'd have assumed that they couldn't care less what you thought about their sending obviously second-hand Christmas cards. I agree, it is a bit chintzy for "wealthy" people. But it surely is no great "sin" worthy of your prayers.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FOR ABBY'S BOOKLET, "HOW TO HAVE A LOVELY WEDDING," send $1.00 to ABBY, BOX 69700, LOS ANGELES, CAL., 90069. (Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 10:30 a. m. WKLY-1490)

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny... astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, AUGUST 30, 1968

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Day for long-range planning. Look beyond immediate indications. Many petty annoyances can be swept away. Key is to add to knowledge. Collect information. Fortify your position.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Shake out doubts. Examine areas that represent mystery. Bring the unknown closer. Accent on the unusual, including an offer that involves ample money. Be perceptive.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Your relations with one very close are highlighted. Best not to reveal all you think you know. Gain shown if you listen and observe. Act accordingly.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Get together with associates, co-workers. Share interests. Find out how to better accomplish basic tasks. This can be done if you talk, socialize. A reunion tonight brings pleasure.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Good lunar aspect today coincides with romance, creative endeavors. Day features change, variety. You come out of shell. You find appreciative audience means very much to you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Spotlight on home, property, family activities. Best to be practical. Otherwise you could become involved in merry-go-round chase. Means unless realistic there is much movement, little else.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Day features visits, activity with relatives and neighbors. Be selective. Ideas, suggestions are plentiful. Choose the best. Don't try to do too much at once.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Now you find out things which work to your benefit. Be subtle in approach. Also, remember that discretion is a valuable ally. Take it easy. Someone could present you with great gift.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Assert yourself now. If necessary, insist to the extent of being overbearing. Excess shyness today is completely out of place. Know this—act accordingly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Double check reports. If not careful, you could repeat steps. But if thorough, indications are that you will advance. One who is coy may trip up—this works in your favor.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Accent on hopes, wishes, friendships. You could make important contact which could lead to meaningful relationship. Keep mind, heart open to possibilities. Be mature.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Strive today to live up to full potential. Your standing in community is elevated. You can now favorably influence those in position to aid your cause. Plan with care.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you have fine sense of humor. You are artistic, but tend to scatter your forces. People enjoy your company. You are graceful, attractive. You have much responsibility now—and you are due to receive reward.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for SAGITTARIUS, CAPRICORN. Special word to CANCER: remember health resolutions.

Play Is Only Block to Slam

By Oswald and James Jacoby

In modern bidding, the new suit response at the two level shows at least 11 points and promises a further bid over any new suit bid by the opening bidder. Therefore, North felt that his best rebid would be three diamonds. He didn't care how high his partner might take him, since he could always go back to hearts at the same level. When South rebid his hearts, North decided to take the bull by the horns and put South in six after using Blackwood.

It was imaginative bidding and also good bidding and the slam should have been made but South overlooked what should have been an automatic play in the trump suit.

West opened the king of clubs and continued the suit. South was careful to ruff with the eight of trumps, just in case West had an eight-card club suit, but his next play sent the slam into never-never land. He led the four of hearts to his queen.

West showed out and South had to do something about that jack of trumps. He returned to dummy with a spade and led the nine of hearts but East was ready to cover with the jack. South led back to dummy's 10 of hearts and tried to make the hand by running spades but East scotched that by ruffing the second one.

If South had just led the nine or four of hearts instead of the 10, he would have come dashing home. He could have led a spade to dummy's ace and covered the nine. East would return to dummy with the ace of diamonds and finesse against the seven of trumps.

Cousteau Tells of His Plans

NEW YORK (UPI)—Deep in the dark depths of the oceans, fantastic battles are going on at this moment between sperm whales and giant squid as awesome as the clashes of the dinosaurs in the days when the world was young.

No one has ever photographed these mighty fights to the death for they take place 2,000 or 3,000 feet down where little light penetrates. But if anyone ever records them for television audiences it will be Philippe Cousteau and his one-man submarine.

Handsome, bearded Philippe, 27-year-old son of oceanographer Jacques Cousteau is just completing final work on their new documentary "Whales" which will be shown on ABC-TV Nov. 15. It is the fourth in a series of 12 fascinating studies of the oceans produced by the Cousteaus and David Wolper.

Young Cousteau stopped off in New York briefly this week for talks about the progress of the three-year project which carries the general title, "The Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau." And over lunch at La Fonda Del Sol he told of his plan to catch with his cameras the great squid as they surface at night in the Humboldt Current off the coast of South America.

Huge Animals

Some of these beasts must be 50 feet across, from arm-tip to arm-tip, based on the finding of a squid eyeball nearly one-foot in diameter in the stomach of a sperm whale, Cousteau said he was not worried that the squid might wrap the little submarine in its arms and perhaps jam the mechanism as they do in science-fiction films on the late show.

"One hopes they will sense it is not a living thing," he said, cheerfully.

Cousteau trailed grey whales, sperm whales and fin-backed whales for the documentary keeping track of the great mammals at night by radar. Guided by Dr. Ted Walker of the Scripps Oceanographic complex at La Jolla, Cal. The expedition lived with and among whales and recorded some remarkable whale lore.

"I don't like to attribute human intelligence to animals," Cousteau said, "but we saw the birth of a grey whale baby, six feet long and just as wrinkled and appealing as a human baby. Later it demanded attention from its mother and when she was asleep on the surface the baby would ram her to wake her up."

Painful Lesson

"When she was asleep one day the baby whale came over to our boat and played around it. This was obviously forbidden. Mother awoke, saw where her infant was, swam over and with her tail gave the little one a solid smack that taught it a painful lesson."

Cousteau said the documentary film shows a young sperm whale dropping out of the pack when the expedition tagged it with a tiny skindive harpoon intended to help keep track of its wanderings. Two mature whales dropped back from the pack and stationing themselves on each side of the youngster repeatedly arched their backs. The young one took the hint, arched its own back and dislodged the harpoon.

Another extraordinary bit of a film shows a young sperm whale dropping out of the pack when the expedition tagged it with a tiny skindive harpoon intended to help keep track of its wanderings. Two mature whales dropped back from the pack and stationing themselves on each side of the youngster repeatedly arched their backs. The young one took the hint, arched its own back and dislodged the harpoon.

Cousteau said the documentary has convinced him there is no longer any excuse for whaling which has already reduced the blue whale—the largest living thing that ever existed on earth—to the point of extermination and threatened the existence of other types of whales.

Incidentally, whalers say "thar blows!" when they sight a whale, Cousteau says "thar she blows!" was invented by landlubber novelists.

Communist party First Secretary Alexander Dubcek.

Reflects Defiance
The fall of Bilak reflected continued Czechoslovak defiance of Moscow's terms for eventual ending the Soviet bloc occupation of this country—terms that even Dubcek has urged his countrymen to accept.

There was no immediate indication how the Kremlin would react to Bilak's fall from power in the regional party. According to official radio broadcasts, Husak himself had tried to defend Bilak against charges he cooperated with the Soviets in their Aug. 20-21 invasion of Czechoslovakia to stem the tide of liberal reform here.

Claimed Invitation
The Soviets have claimed unnamed Czechoslovakian leaders invited the occupation. Underground radios and newspapers accused Bilak of being one of the "collaborators."

Both Bilak, long a party foe of Dubcek, and Husak were members of the mission to Moscow negotiations led Friday by President Lucvick Svoboda. No collaboration charges were lodged against Husak, a member of Dubcek's liberal wing of the party.

Soviet occupation forces arrested Dubcek and other reform leaders but later allowed them to join the Kremlin negotiations with Svoboda. A correspondent here for the Swiss newspaper Tribune de Lausanne said in a dispatch that "absolutely reliable sources" told him only Svoboda's iron insistence saved Dubcek and the other arrested leaders from Soviet execution.

The others said to have been saved from death were Parliament President Josef Smrkovsky, Premier Oldrich Cernik and Czechoslovak party president members Frantisek Kriegel and Bohumil Simon.

No Choice
In Bratislava, Husak echoed Dubcek-Svoboda that Czechoslovaks have no choice but to toe the Soviet line for the moment. The Soviets, Poles, East Germans, Hungarians and Bulgarians have more than an estimated 200,000 troops occupying this former satellite.

Husak, once a purge victim in the Stalinist regime overthrown by Dubcek's reformers eight months ago, also said the Moscow agreement "does not mean we are abandoning our ideals which will be implemented gradually as the situation allows."

The national assembly Wednesday passed a resolution condemning the Soviet bloc invasion as "illegal and violating international treaties, the U.N. Charter and the Warsaw Pact." It called for a fixed timetable for Soviet bloc troop withdrawal.

Second Court Test Slated For Judge Screening Panel

NEW YORK (AP)—Presiding Justice Bernard Botwin of the Appellate Division, First Department, says the full list of potential candidates for 17 vacancies on the state bench "will never be made public."

Meanwhile, Botwin's authority to name the 19-member screening committee which is considering the potential candidates undergoes its second court test today.

Sam Polur, 44-year-old Manhattan attorney, carries his suit to enjoin the committee from functioning to the Appellate Division. State Supreme Court Justice John L. Flynn rejected the Polur suit Tuesday.

Polur contends the plan agreed upon by Botwin and Democratic, Liberal and Republican party officials of Manhattan and the Bronx to appoint only those candidates approved by the screening committee is unconstitutional. Justice Botwin said Wednesday he would submit the list of several candidates to party officials of the two boroughs "within a day or two." He declined to say how many names were on the original list of potential candidates, or how many had been approved by the committee.

He added that secrecy was to "protect" those candidates who had been rejected by the committee from any professional embarrassment.

Justice Botwin and the party officials reached their agreement on the plan to fill the judicial vacancies Aug. 6.

Polur has said he will appeal his case to the Court of Appeals—the state's highest court—if his motion is denied.

Paratroopers Close in on Reds

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. paratroopers today closed in around two North Vietnam units widely separated from one another near Hue on the northern coast. No letup appeared imminent in heavy fighting that broke a summer lull and pushed both U.S. and Communist deaths last week to their highest levels since the Reds' May offensive. The U.S. Command said 308 Americans died in action, most since the week of June 2 midway through the May-June fighting. Communist deaths were listed at 4,755, their highest death count since the week of May 11. From Trang Bang, 24 miles northwest of Saigon, UPI correspondent Nat Gibson reported 93 Communists killed and 22 captured after U.S. troops slipped their ambush on a corridor into the capital Wednesday and surrounded them. Eight Americans died and 25 others were wounded, most of them in the early going when

Capt. William Burrier of Uvalde, Tex., led his company away from the open jaws of an ambush in a nonscheduled change of direction. From helicopters, U.S. reinforcements swarmed around the Communist unit and, following all-night American air and artillery bombardments, moved out today to find the estimated 300 remaining North Vietnamese, Gibson said. Far to the north, other American paratroopers seized a big Communist weapons hideout

Wednesday while moving in on a Red unit they said they surrounded Tuesday. U.S. headquarters said the find included 200,000 bullets, 1,500 mortar rounds, 50 short-range rockets, 97 rifles and pistols and 12 one-pound blocks of TNT. Spokesmen for the 82nd Airborne troops said they "are around the enemy as well as they can be in triple-canopy jungle." More than 100 North Vietnamese have died in the fighting 18 miles south of Hue since Tuesday, they said, against "light" U.S. losses. In other developments:—Government sources said 58 Communists died in the latest fighting Wednesday around Duc Lap. Nine South Vietnamese soldiers were reported killed and 10 wounded near the embattled outpost 125 miles northeast of Saigon. —Communist rockets early today slammed into three allied bases in the northern war zone—a Marine outpost north of Da Nang, a government regimental base at Quang Ngai and the town of Tam Ky. Overall losses, spokesmen said, were light.

308 GI Dead in Week Highest Since June

SAIGON (UPI)—The violent end of a summer lull in the Vietnam War left 308 Americans dead in battle last week, the highest weekly toll since early June, U.S. spokesmen said today.

Communist losses were given as 4,755, their heaviest casualties since the week of May 11, midway through their nationwide May offensive.

were wounded in the stepped-up fighting which raged from one end of South Vietnam to the other. America's casualties in the war crept steadily toward the 200,000 mark.

The U.S. death toll was the highest since the week ending June 8—at the tail end of the May offensive—when 380 were killed. It was almost twice the 159 who died during the previous week.

However, the number of wounded during the past week was slightly lower than the 1,184 of the week before.

The week of heavy fighting pushed America's total war casualties to 197,605, the report said.

These included 27,101 killed in combat, 169,296 others wounded and 1,208 listed officially as "missing in action" or believed captured by the Communists.

Last week's Communist death toll was up sharply from the 2,129 reported killed during the previous week and the highest since 5,348 Reds were killed the week of May 11.

Communist combat deaths for the war total at least 385,055 since Jan. 1, 1961, according to the U.S. figures. Meanwhile, "American" military strength hit 539,500, not including some 35,000 troops on station with the U.S. 7th Fleet off the coast of North Vietnam, nor the 750 Coast Guardsmen on duty in the war zone.

'Electrician' Kidnaps Son of Coast Banker

By BRUCE LOWITT
BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—A man posing as an electrician kidnaped the 4-year-old son of a Beverly Hills banker, and police searching for the boy said today there are similarities to an unsolved abduction one year ago.

Wants $250,000
"I'll contact your husband later. I want $250,000 in $20 bills," the mother of Stanley Stafford Jr. quoted his abductor as saying.

The man, wearing a hard hat and blue work clothes, fled in the family's new auto. Police said they found the abandoned auto seven hours later but would give no details.

Police Chief Clinton H. Anderson said "there are similarities" between the Stafford abduction and the kidnaping of Kenneth Young, 11, in April 1967.

Kenneth, son of Herbert Young, president of a savings and loan association, was released unharmed after three days when his father paid $250,000 ransom. He lives 4½ blocks from the Staffords.

Both boys were kidnaped during the day. Both fathers are civic leaders.

Stanley Stafford Sr., 49, chairman of the board of Fidelity Bank of Beverly Hills, was "anxious to pay off the ransom," Anderson said. But police said they knew of no ransom call.

One Married to Cugie
A visitor to the Staffords' $90,000 home, who wouldn't give his name, said the boy's father and mother, Joanne, were "just sitting by the telephone waiting for a call."

The boy's father was at work when the youngster was kidnaped.

Stafford's first wife was Lorraine Allen, an actress once married to bandleader Xavier Cugat. She won a $500,000 settlement when she divorced Stafford in 1960.
